
PILOT QUIZ
2024-25

RULES

- Every correct answer adds +10 to your survival kit.
- Just like there were two towers, we've got two rounds. Brace yourself for double the challenge!
- No penalties for wrong answers—so if you're lost in the rubble, take a wild guess!
- Partial points will be awarded for close calls, because sometimes, just like in real life, every little effort counts.
- Googling, ChatGPT, or discussing with teammates is considered "cheating the rescue mission." Remember, this is a solo operation!
- QM’s discretion is final.

Sample Question

At the forefront of weather forecasting technology is Doppler Weather Radar, which has replaced most traditional radars in some countries. The effectiveness of these radars in weather prediction relies on the detection of wave movement and the atmospheric conditions influencing these waves. Their comprehensive coverage of specific areas makes them crucial for predicting sudden weather variations in disaster-prone regions. In the early 2010s, only thirteen such radars were operational in India.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The aftermath of a tragic event around the same time made the public realize the urgent need to upgrade to these radar systems, especially for monitoring mountainous regions that are highly susceptible to cloudbursts, landslides, and other disasters. Such upgrades could have potentially prevented the high death toll during these incidents.

ID the Disaster.

ANSWER

Kedarnath Floods

ROUND-1

QUESTIONS

QUESTION-1

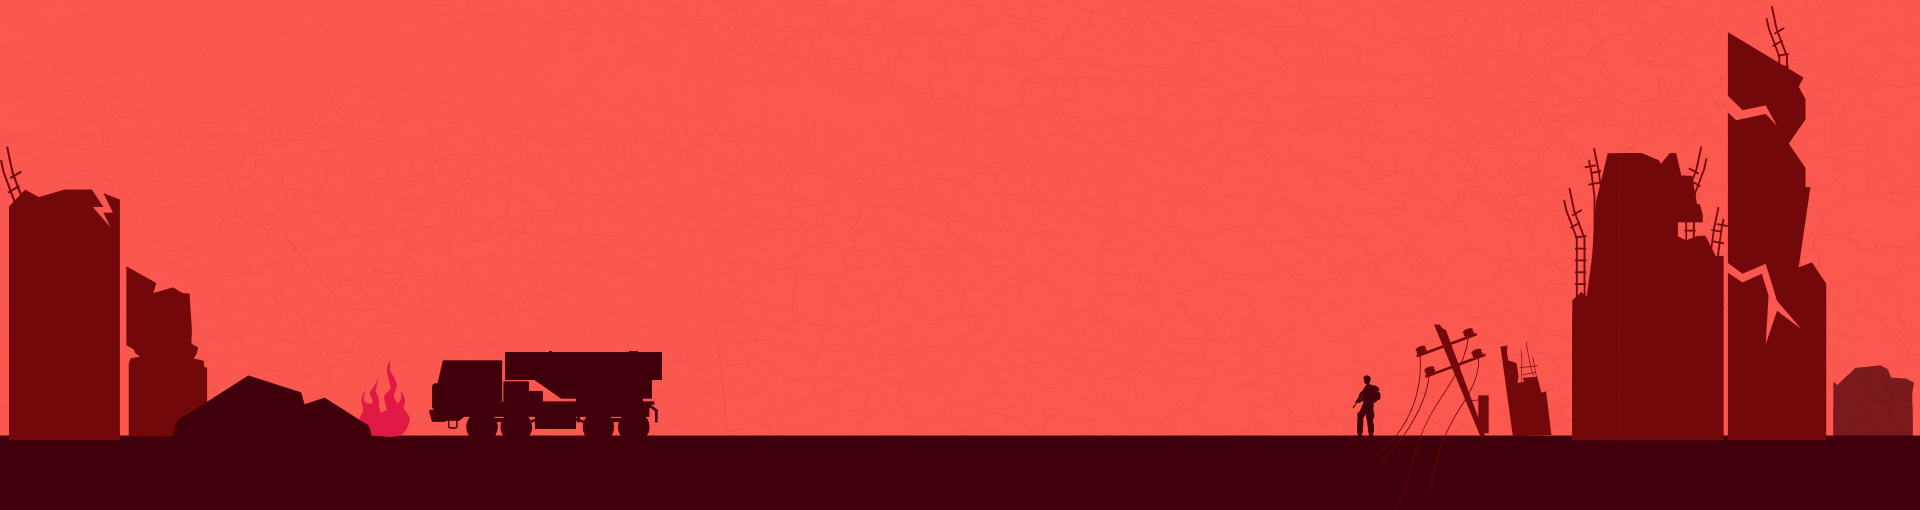

In the Indian film X, the portrayal of this real-world tragedy was a unique and thoughtful way to pay homage to the devastation it brought upon humanity. This tragedy, marked by waves of unforgettable memories and loss, was cleverly integrated into the storyline and became a pivotal moment, where it was used to destroy a more dangerous, unseen, but feared weapon. The film X suggests that the origins of this tragedy date back to the 12th century, when two warring sects clashed due to their anger against the Lord of that place.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The film skillfully draws parallels between this historical conflict and tragedy, sparking both curiosity and engagement among audiences.

Identify the tragedy and the film X in which it was depicted.

QUESTION-2

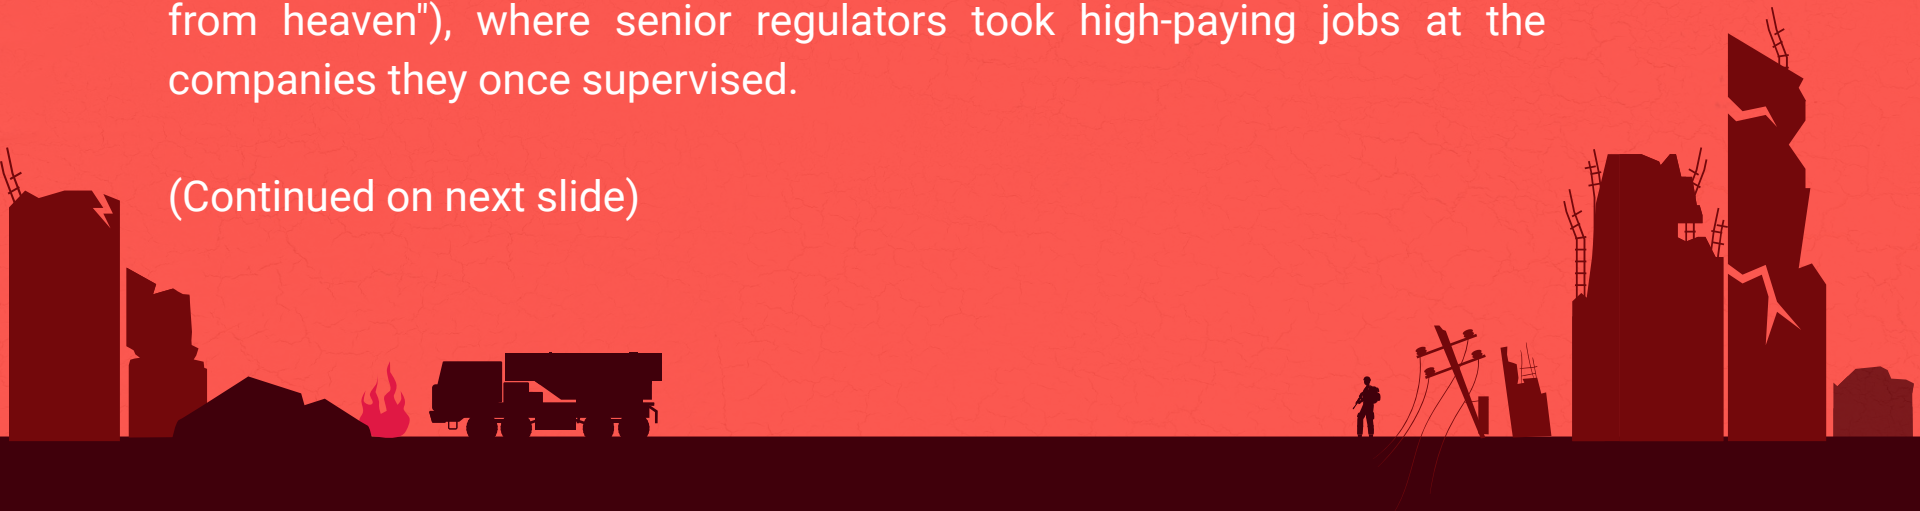

The premiere episode of a popular mini-series is titled ‘1:23:45,’ which was the creator's way of marking the start of certain events. In some scenes, the show depicts the formation of an irregularly shaped structure, X, named after an animal. This blackish-grey structure is composed primarily of silicon dioxide, calcium, iron, zirconium, aluminium, and _____. It was located about 15 meters southeast of the area where the events in the premiere episode took place.

Explain the title choice and ID X.

QUESTION-3

Three investigations into the incident revealed that it was a man-made catastrophe, rooted in regulatory capture linked to a "network of corruption, collusion, and nepotism." A New York Times report highlighted that the regulatory system consistently favored and supported the industry, driven by the concept of amakudari ("descent from heaven"), where senior regulators took high-paying jobs at the companies they once supervised.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

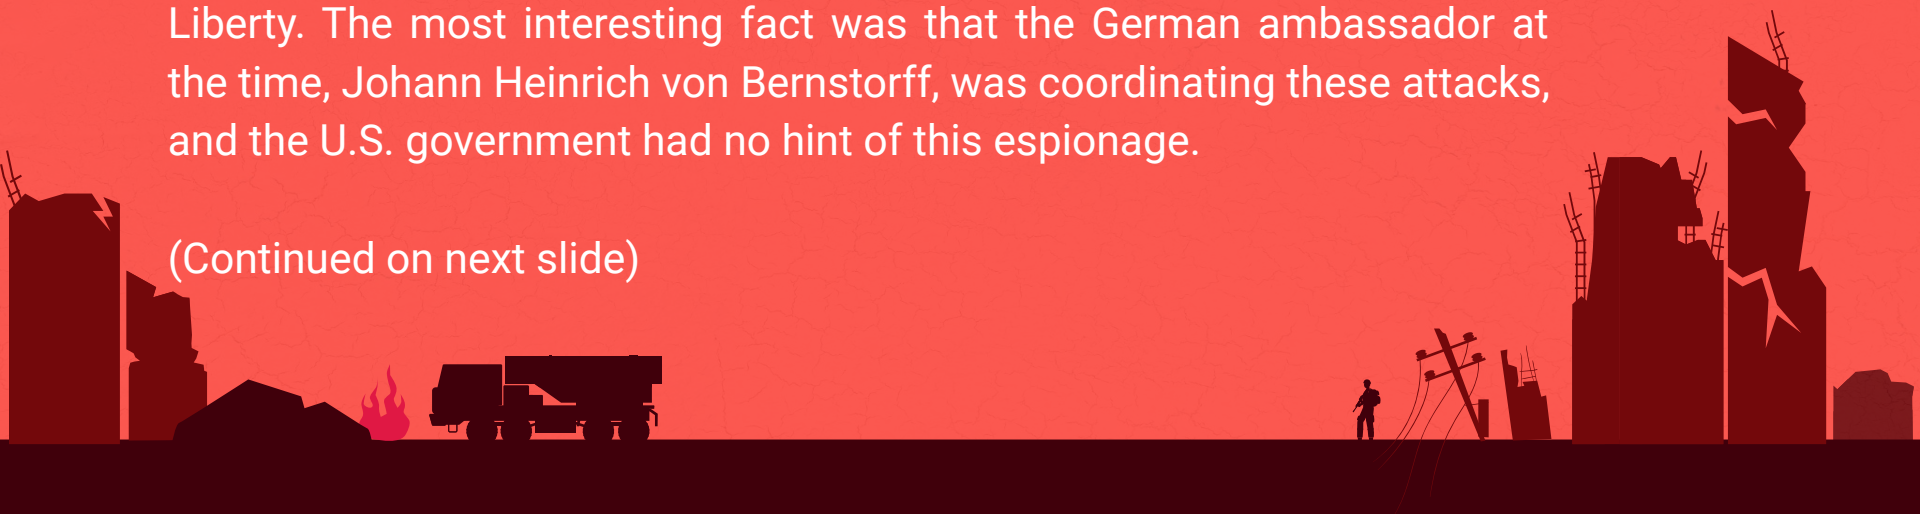

An inquiry officer stated that the accident "cannot be regarded as a natural disaster." It was a deeply man-made incident that could have been anticipated and prevented, with its impact lessened by a more effective human response. The blame was placed on the government, regulatory bodies, and TEPCO (_____ Electric Power), while firefighting services were praised.

Identify the incident, and why it couldn't be classified as a natural disaster?

QUESTION-4

The Black Tom explosion was an act of sabotage by German agents to destroy U.S.-made munitions that were to be supplied to the __ in X. The explosions, which occurred on July 30, 1916, in New York Harbor, destroyed some $20,000,000 worth of military goods. This incident, which happened prior to U.S. entry into X, also damaged the Statue of Liberty. The most interesting fact was that the German ambassador at the time, Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, was coordinating these attacks, and the U.S. government had no hint of this espionage.

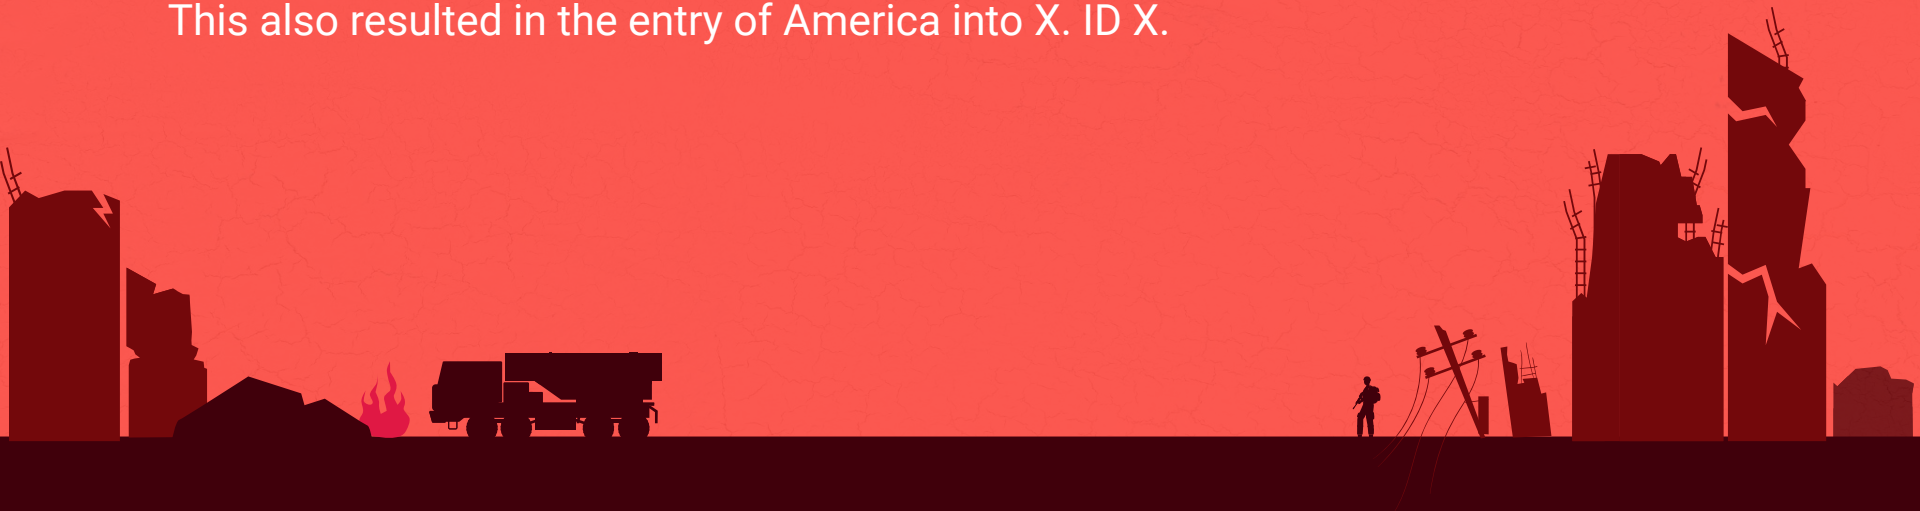

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

This led to the formation of something in the U.S. that is of utmost importance for their national security, and if it had been established earlier, it could have prevented this blast.
What was formed?

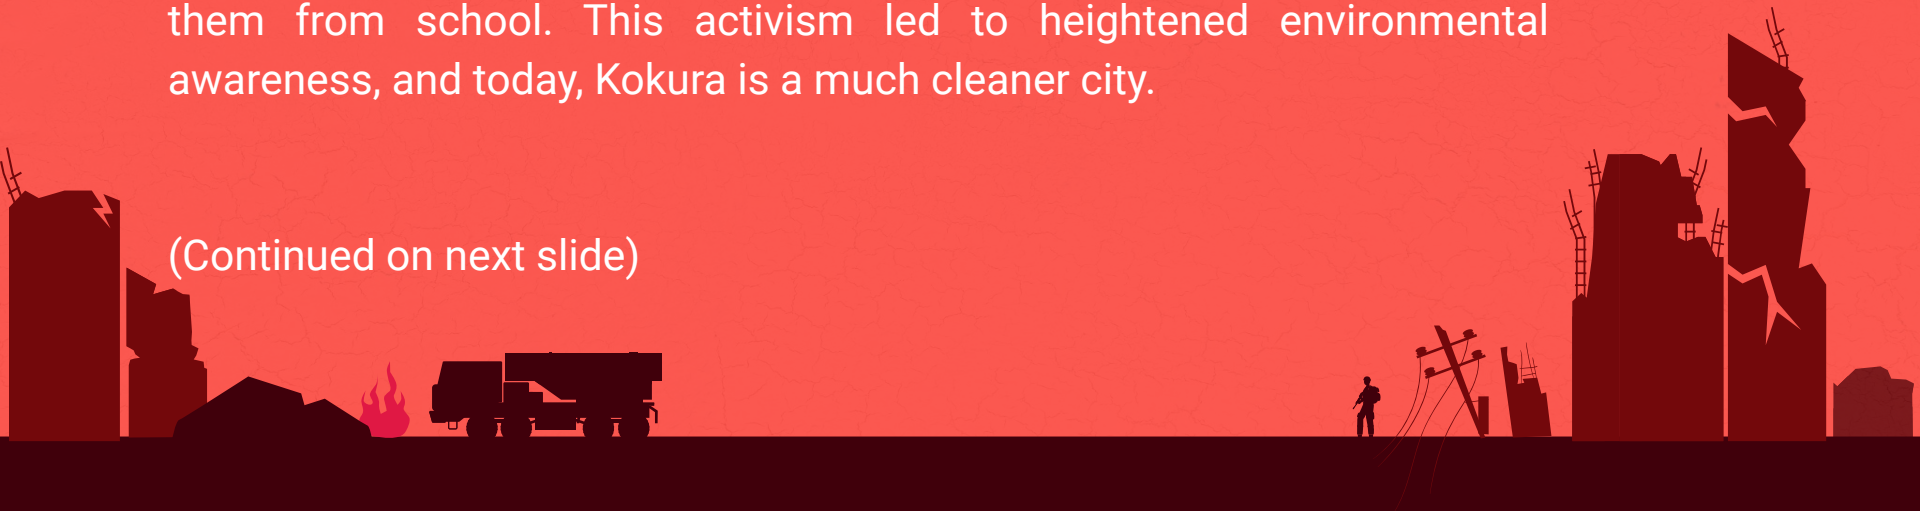

This also resulted in the entry of America into X. ID X.

QUESTION-5

The citizens of Kokura took pride in their city's high levels of pollution, viewing it as a sign of development and post-war prosperity. Throughout the 1960s and 70s, the pollution was very severe. The "rainbow smoke" became a symbol of this industrial success until mothers began protesting and documenting their children's frequent illnesses that kept them from school. This activism led to heightened environmental awareness, and today, Kokura is a much cleaner city.

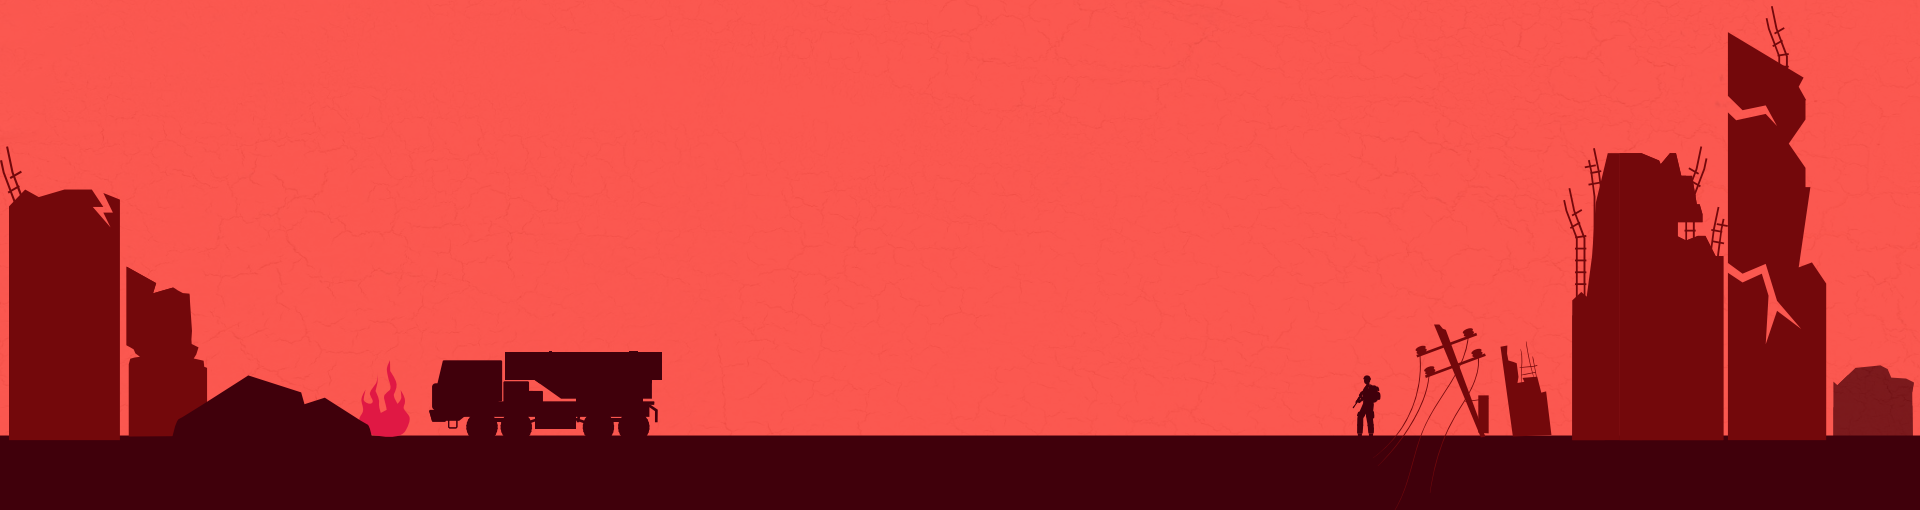

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The reason why the citizens were proud of the smoky city was also a source of guilt, which was alleviated when a neighboring city gifted them a memorial.

ID the reason.

QUESTION-6

The _ _ _ _ _ _ (6) X of London occured in the early 1950s, caused by many homes using low-quality coal for heating. Due to cold weather, anticyclones, and windless conditions, the incident resulted in over 10,000 deaths and more than 100,000 injuries.

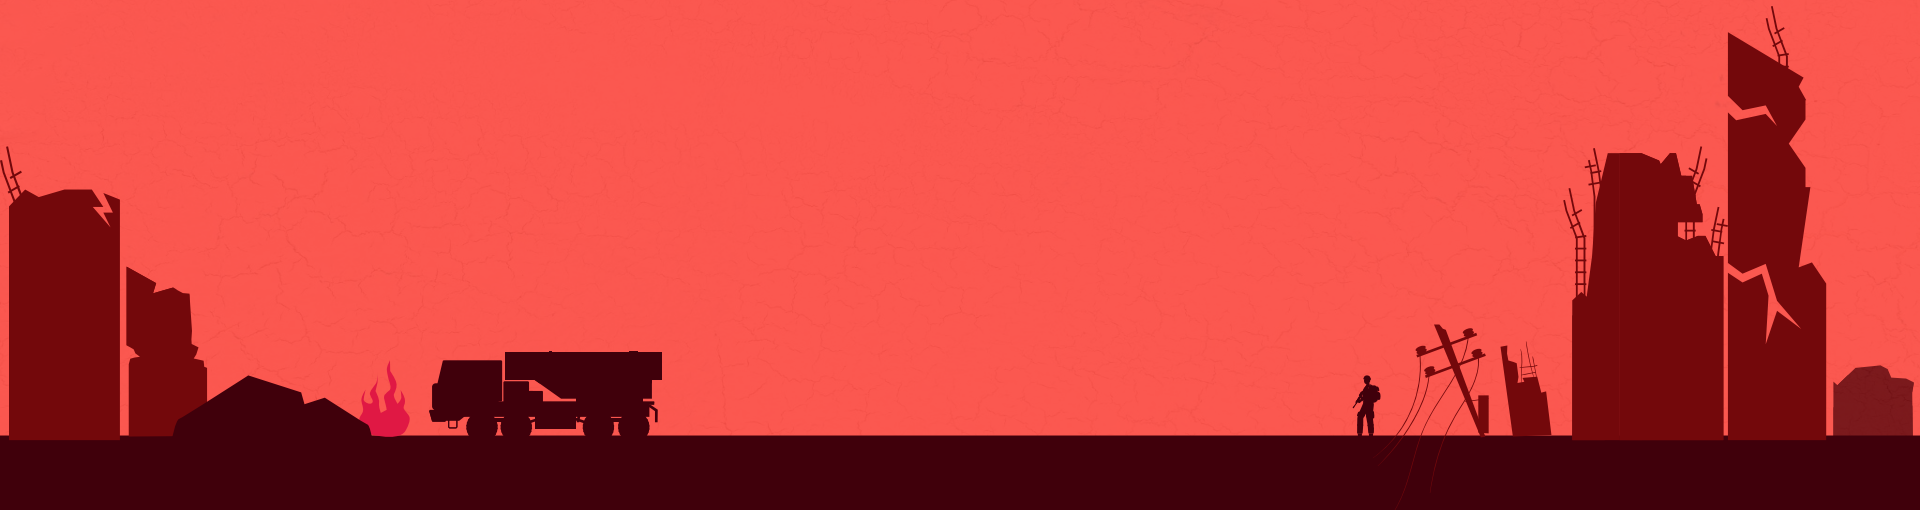

In addition to health impacts, the X severely reduced visibility to just a few meters, halting public transport and ambulance services, which left residents to transport themselves to hospitals in critical condition.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

In the following weeks, over 4,000 more people died. Although initially attributed to an influenza epidemic, later evidence indicated that most of these deaths were due to the X.

Identify the incident.

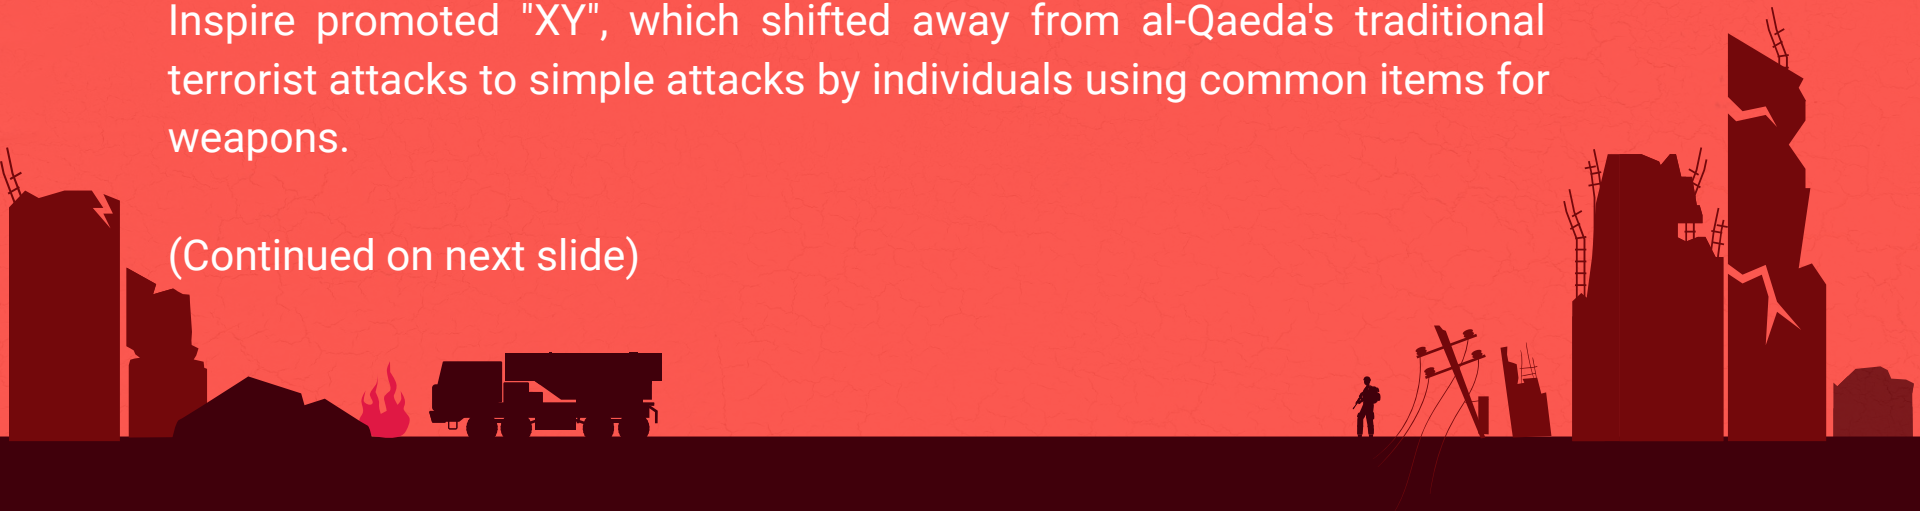

QUESTION-7

The Boston Marathon bombing, a work of 2 brothers who planted two homemade pressure cooker bombs, was a result of XY. The brothers learned to build explosive devices from the online magazine of al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP), called Inspire.

Inspire promoted "XY", which shifted away from al-Qaeda's traditional terrorist attacks to simple attacks by individuals using common items for weapons.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

It got its name from X, which is any program whose source code is made available for use or modification as users or other developers see fit, as Inspire contained articles from all around the world, and anyone could contribute to it.

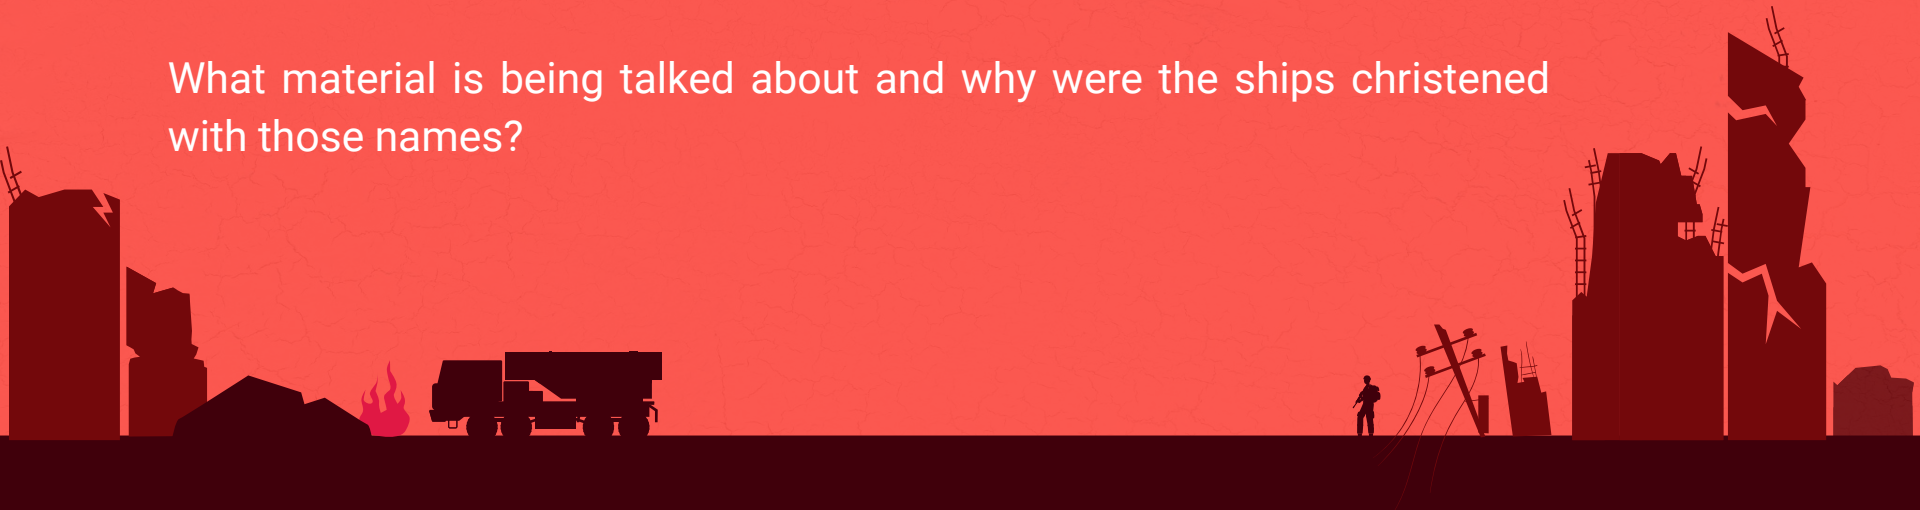

Y translates to a “Holy War” undertaken as a sacred duty by a Muslim. Since Sept. 11, 2001, it has also become synonymous with terrorism.

ID XY.

QUESTION-8

USS New York and its sisters Arlington and Somerset, aptly christened were announced in September 2004 by the authorities symbolizing the American resilience. The federal authorities used a certain kind of material to build these ships. This was praised by the people that something new and strong can be built from the rubble.

What material is being talked about and why were the ships christened with those names?

QUESTION-9

It took 73 years for the _____ to be found at its location, and some speculate that one of the reasons it took decades to find was because survivors weren't believed when they provided details of what they saw. A reason why they weren't believed was reportedly due to the fact that the majority of them were women and children who were under a lot of stress and not fully in command of their faculties.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

Another reason was that the employees and the second officer of _____ deemed the claims to be 'utterly untrue.'

A historian also notes that up until this incident, although there were similar incidents on a small scale, they did not occur in the way the survivors claimed.

What did the survivors claim that was only proved right after _____ was found, as we now know?

QUESTION-10

The "German Corpse Factory," also sometimes called the "German Corpse-Rendering Works" or "Tallow Factory," was one of the most notorious anti-German atrocity propaganda stories circulated during World War I. In the postwar years, investigations in Britain and France revealed that these stories were false. According to the story, the factory was a special installation supposedly operated by the Germans, in which, because certain materials were scarce in Germany due to the Allied blockade, German battlefield corpses were rendered down for materials used to manufacture nitroglycerine, candles, lubricants, and even shoe polish.

What was the rumor spread by the Anglo-French alliance?

QUESTION-11

Studio Ghibli's Grave of the Fireflies, a Japanese film, follows the story of two siblings in Japan as they struggle to survive during the last few months of World War II, when their home city of Kobe is destroyed. A haunting hidden object was found in the poster decades after the film was first released in theaters.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The fans found something hiding in the poster that can be seen by turning up the brightness of the poster. Along with this hidden object, another fan also altered the color on the image even further and discovered that some of the lights are _____.

What did the fan find out after altering colour?

(Image follows)

歳で、
ようと思った。

QUESTION-12

The next slide contains an excerpt from the poem Annus Mirabilis by John Dryden.

Identify the context/event the poem is describing.

(Continued on next slide)

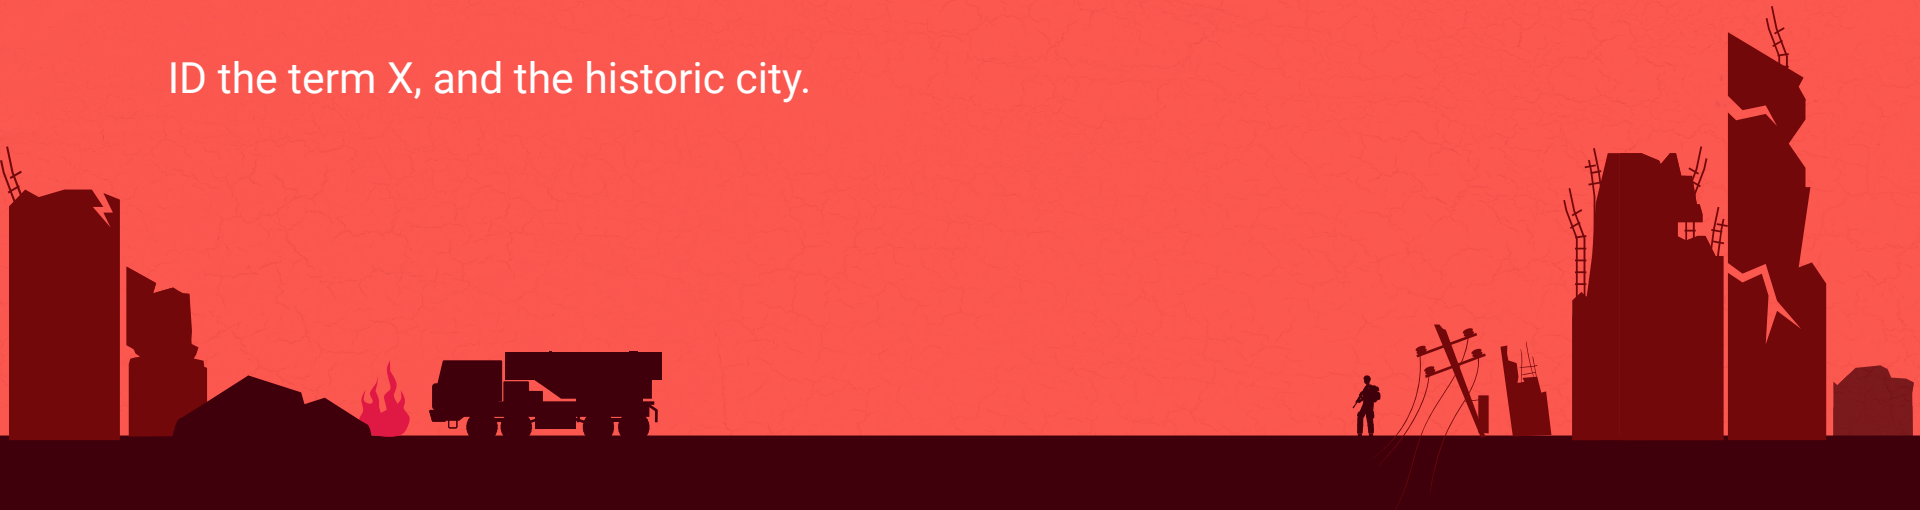

Continuation....

The ghosts of traitors from the bridge descend,
With bold fanatic spectres to rejoice:
About the __ (4) into a dance they bend,
And sing their sabbath notes with feeble voice.
Our guardian angel saw them where they sate
Above the palace of our slumbering king:
He sigh'd, abandoning his charge to fate,
And, drooping, oft look'd back upon the wing.
At length the crackling noise and dreadful blaze
Call'd up some waking lover to the sight;
And long it was ere he the rest could raise,
Whose heavy eyelids yet were full of night.

QUESTION-13

This historical city was also known as X, because of its wild practices & its explicit erotic artifacts. Including frescoes and graffiti, leading some to speculate that it was destroyed as a form of divine judgment. So, archeologists and historians were able to uncover the secrets of X because it was dramatically preserved better compared to other cities.

ID the term X, and the historic city.

QUESTION-14

Operation Wrath of God, a covert assassination campaign was carried out by Israel to avenge _____ in September of 1972. The incident resulted in the X getting suspended for 34 hours, for the first time in modern X history. After it took place, the then Israeli PM took it on himself to avenge those involved, and specially had a wing of Mossad wipe out the entire organization that was involved in the incident in september.

ID X and this incident that was also made into a movie by the coveted director Steven Spielberg.

QUESTION-15

The École Polytechnique Shooting, also known as the Montreal Massacre in 1989, was one of the earliest mass shootings and hate crimes specifically targeting X. The shooter entered a mechanical engineering class and ordered the X to one side of the room, instructing the 50 _ _ _ (3) in the class to leave. He shouted, "You're all __(8), and I hate ____ (8)!" before opening fire. He shot all nine X in the room, killing six of them.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The shooter then moved through the corridors, cafeteria, and another classroom, deliberately targeting X for nearly 20 minutes. In total, he killed 14 X before taking his own life.

This tragic event led to significant discussions on _ _ _ _ _ (5)-based violence and has had a lasting impact on Canadian society, prompting changes in gun control laws and increased awareness of violence against X.

ID X.

ROUND-2

9/11

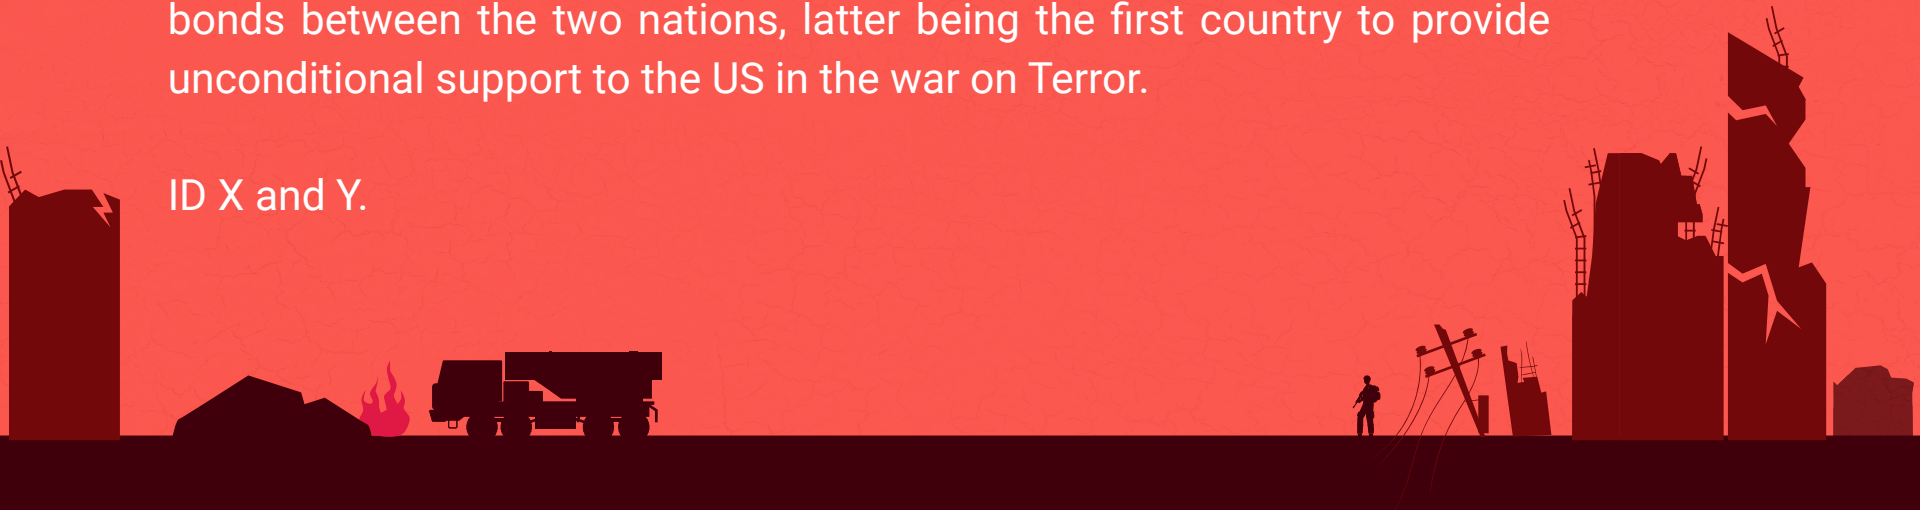

QUESTIONS

QUESTION-1

After the attack in the States, X made an unprecedented gesture of solidarity by ordering the playing of Y at their stately home. Though seeming highly unusual and peculiar, the people accepted this symbolic act with empathy and unity. This incident seemed to have broken the long tradition, but demonstrated the support of the mighty figure, cementing bonds between the two nations, latter being the first country to provide unconditional support to the US in the war on Terror.

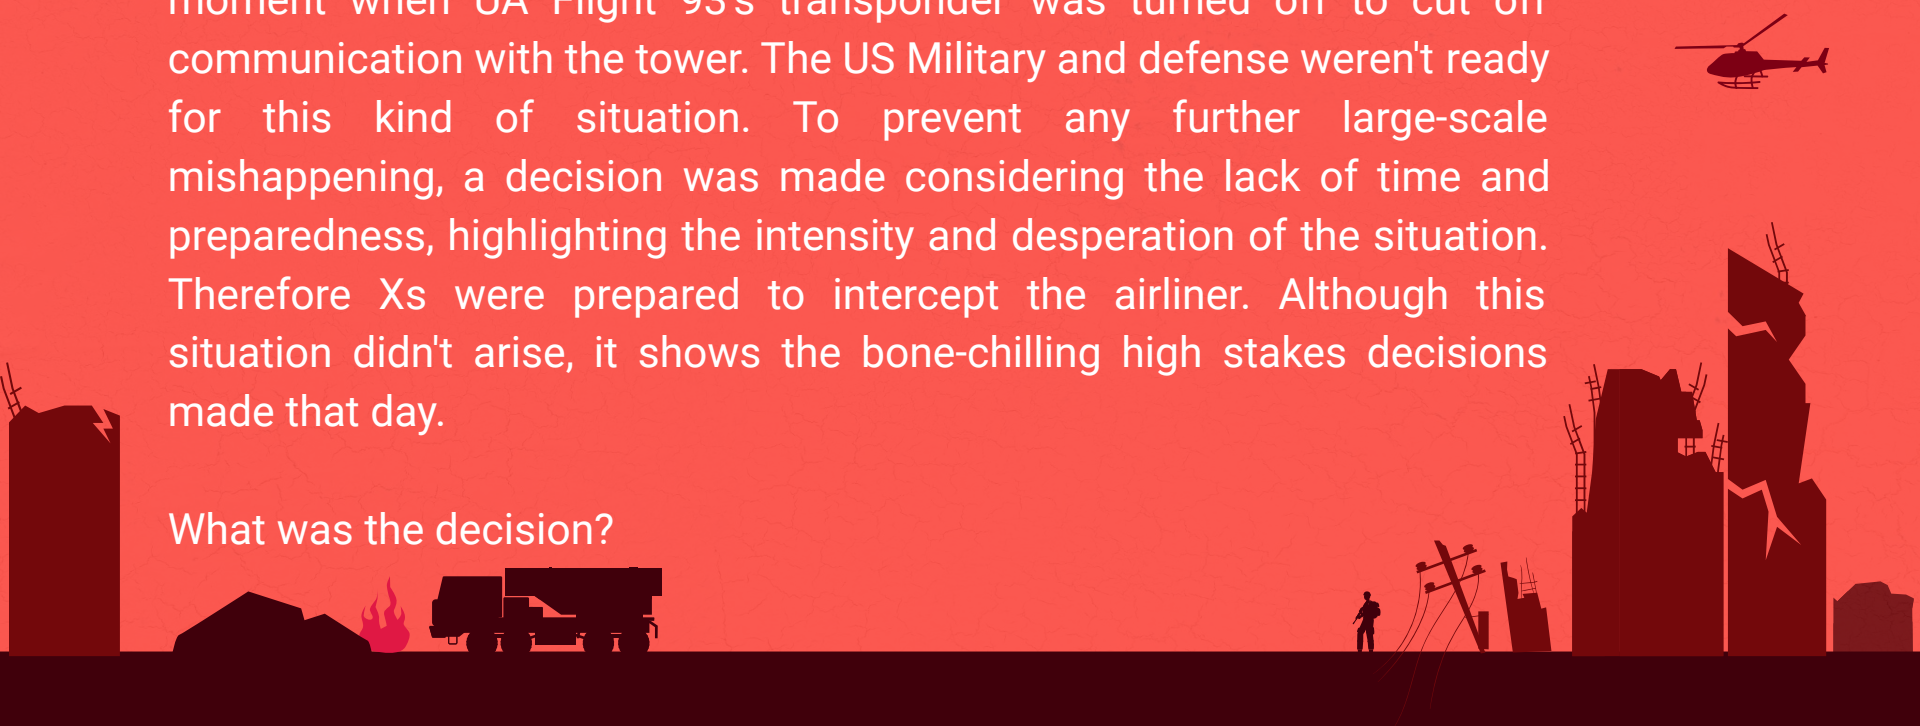

ID X and Y.

QUESTION-2

In the chaos and confusion of the 9/11 attacks, there was a dramatic moment when UA Flight 93's transponder was turned off to cut off communication with the tower. The US Military and defense weren't ready for this kind of situation. To prevent any further large-scale mishappening, a decision was made considering the lack of time and preparedness, highlighting the intensity and desperation of the situation. Therefore Xs were prepared to intercept the airliner. Although this situation didn't arise, it shows the bone-chilling high stakes decisions made that day.

What was the decision?

QUESTION-3

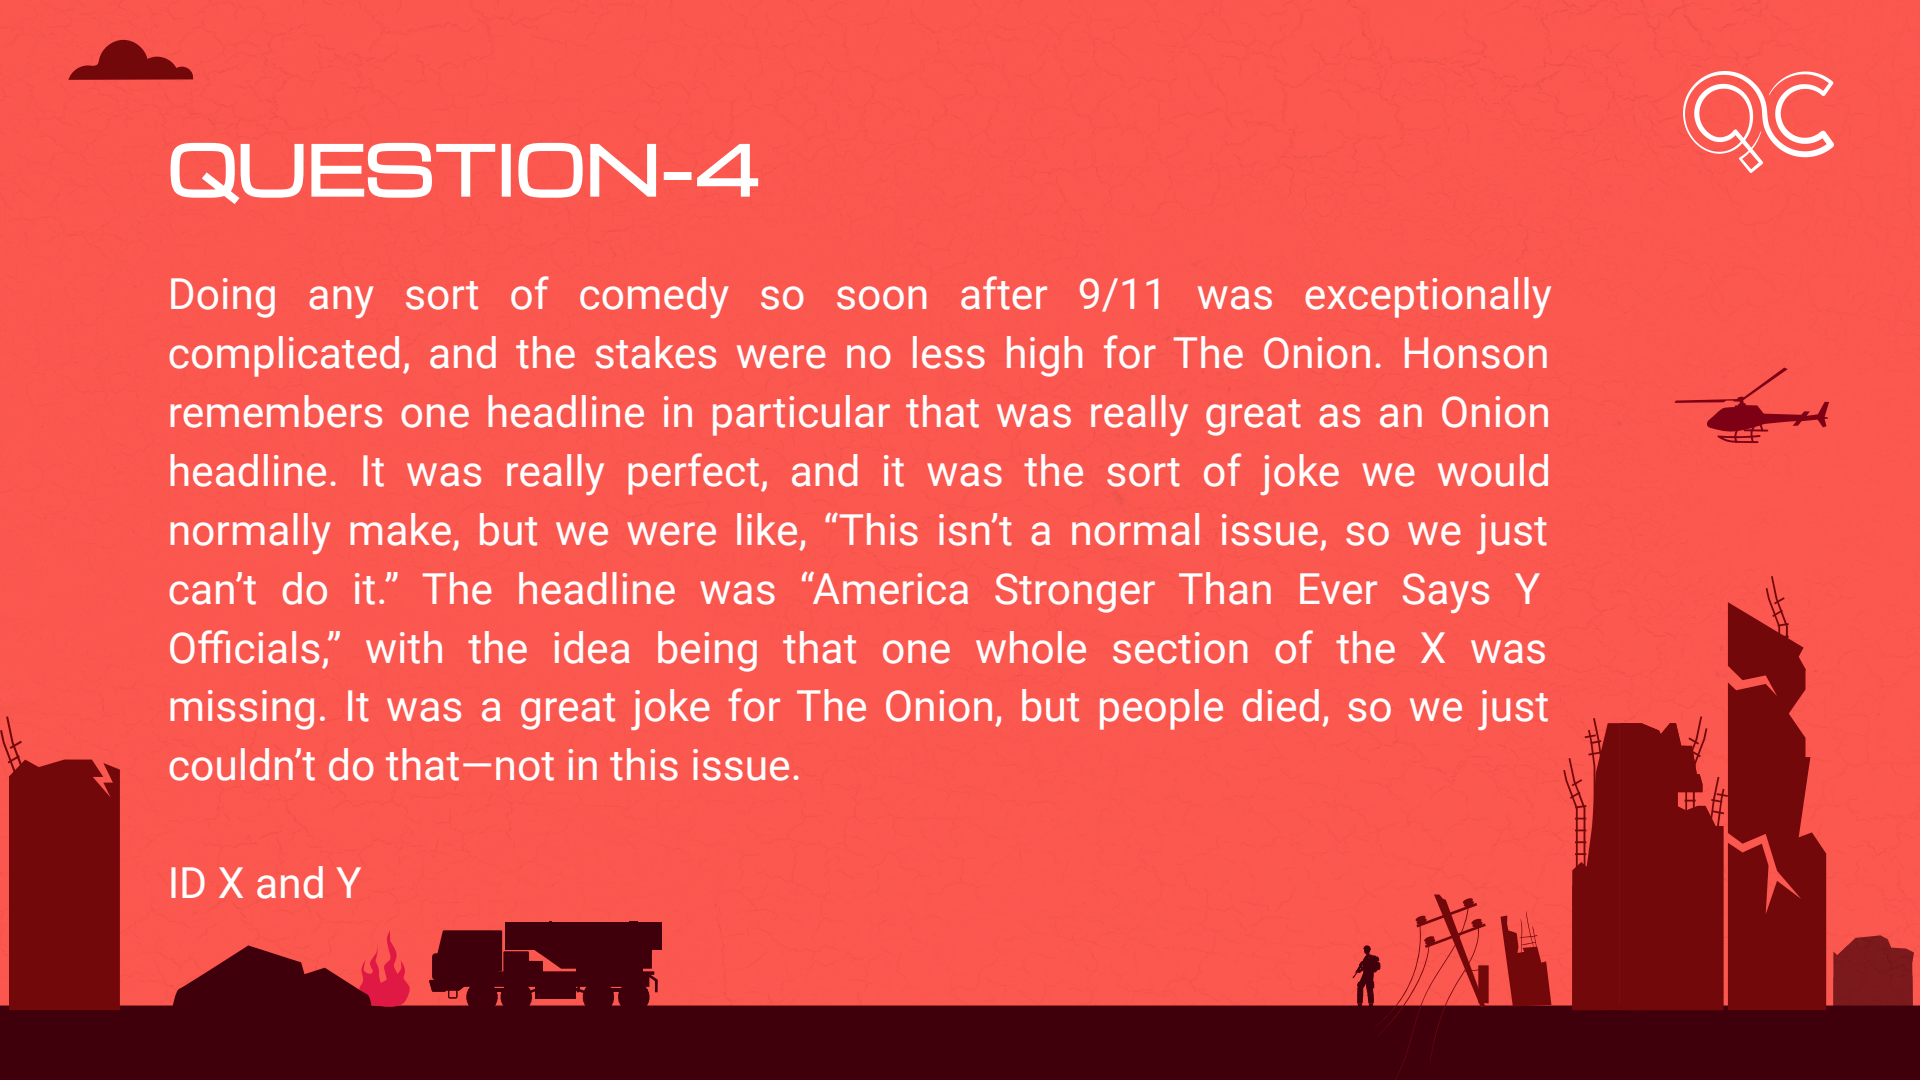

The Survivor Tree was found buried at Ground Zero after the collapse of the twin towers. At the time, the tree was severely damaged, with snapped roots, charred bark, and broken branches. It was believed to be beyond saving. The tree was rescued and rehabilitated and replanted as a part of the memorial site. Now, it has become a living symbol of resilience and healing, showing that life can flourish even after devastating loss. To commemorate and remind people about this tiny yet powerful message of hope and resilience, 9/11 Memorial Museum came up with a program.

What was the program about?

QUESTION-4

Doing any sort of comedy so soon after 9/11 was exceptionally complicated, and the stakes were no less high for The Onion. Honson remembers one headline in particular that was really great as an Onion headline. It was really perfect, and it was the sort of joke we would normally make, but we were like, “This isn’t a normal issue, so we just can’t do it.” The headline was “America Stronger Than Ever Says Y Officials,” with the idea being that one whole section of the X was missing. It was a great joke for The Onion, but people died, so we just couldn’t do that—not in this issue.

ID X and Y

QUESTION-5

On September 11, 2001, Aaron McLamb had just arrived at his workplace near the Brooklyn Bridge when the first plane hit the North Tower. Eighteen minutes later, from his 10th-floor window, he watched in shock as the second plane struck the South Tower. Grabbing his camera, the 20-year-old captured a haunting moment in history. “It felt surreal, watching from above,” he told the Daily News. “We couldn’t hear the fire or the collapsing buildings—just the sirens of fire trucks racing across the bridge."

ID what was so special about the photo he took.
(image follows)

ANSWERS

ROUND-1

QUESTION-1

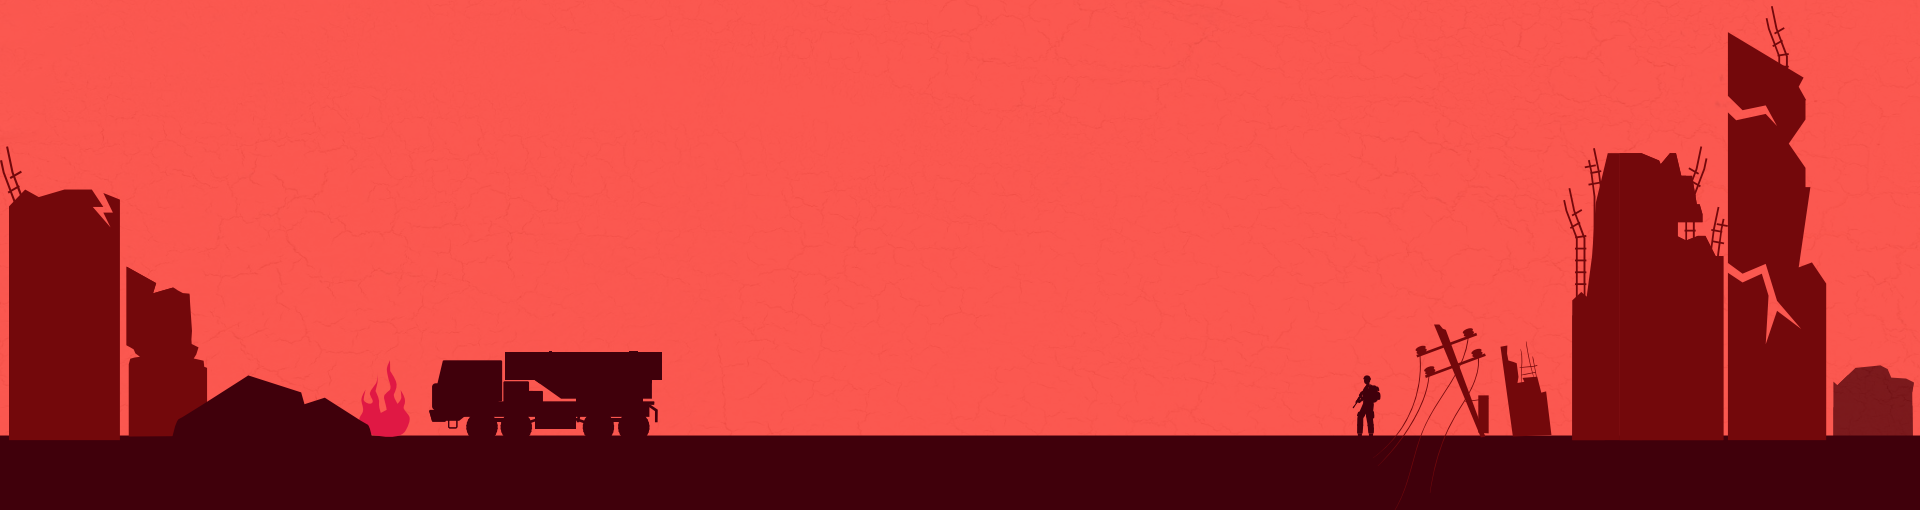

In the Indian film X, the portrayal of this real-world tragedy was a unique and thoughtful way to pay homage to the devastation it brought upon humanity. This tragedy, marked by waves of unforgettable memories and loss, was cleverly integrated into the storyline and became a pivotal moment, where it was used to destroy a more dangerous, unseen, but feared weapon. The film X suggests that the origins of this tragedy date back to the 12th century, when two warring sects clashed due to their anger against the Lord of that place.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The film skillfully draws parallels between this historical conflict and tragedy, sparking both curiosity and engagement among audiences.

Identify the tragedy and the film X in which it was depicted.

ANSWER

Tragedy - 2004 Indian Ocean Tsunami

Movie - Dasavatharam.

QUESTION-2

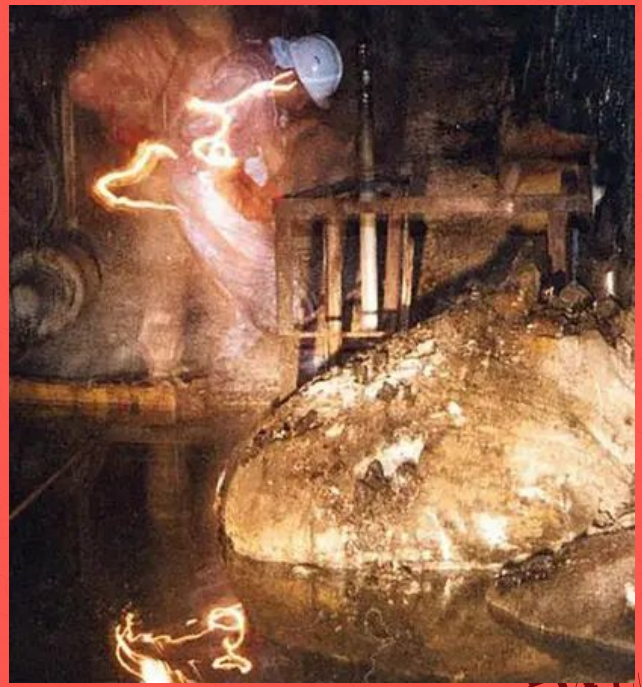

The premiere episode of a popular mini-series is titled ‘1:23:45,’ which was the creator's way of marking the start of certain events. In some scenes, the show depicts the formation of an irregularly shaped structure, X, named after an animal. This blackish-grey structure is composed primarily of silicon dioxide, calcium, iron, zirconium, aluminium, and _____. It was located about 15 meters southeast of the area where the events in the premiere episode took place.

Explain the title choice and ID X.

ANSWER

Chernobyl.
The reactor melted down at 1:23:45.

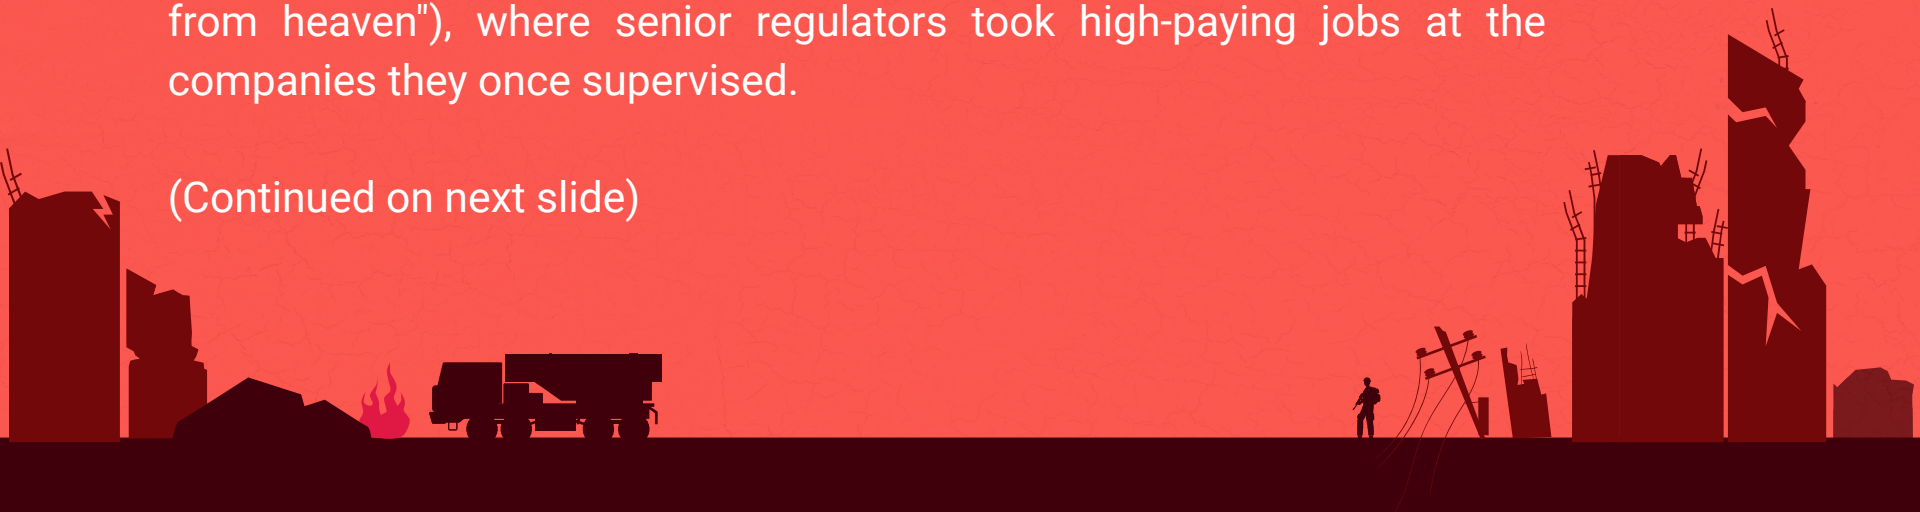

X - Elephant’s Foot

QUESTION-3

Three investigations into the incident revealed that it was a man-made catastrophe, rooted in regulatory capture linked to a "network of corruption, collusion, and nepotism." A New York Times report highlighted that the regulatory system consistently favored and supported the industry, driven by the concept of amakudari ("descent from heaven"), where senior regulators took high-paying jobs at the companies they once supervised.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

An inquiry officer stated that the accident "cannot be regarded as a natural disaster." It was a deeply man-made incident that could have been anticipated and prevented, with its impact lessened by a more effective human response. The blame was placed on the government, regulatory bodies, and TEPCO (_____ Electric Power), while firefighting services were praised.

Identify the incident, and why it couldn't be classified as a natural disaster?

ANSWER

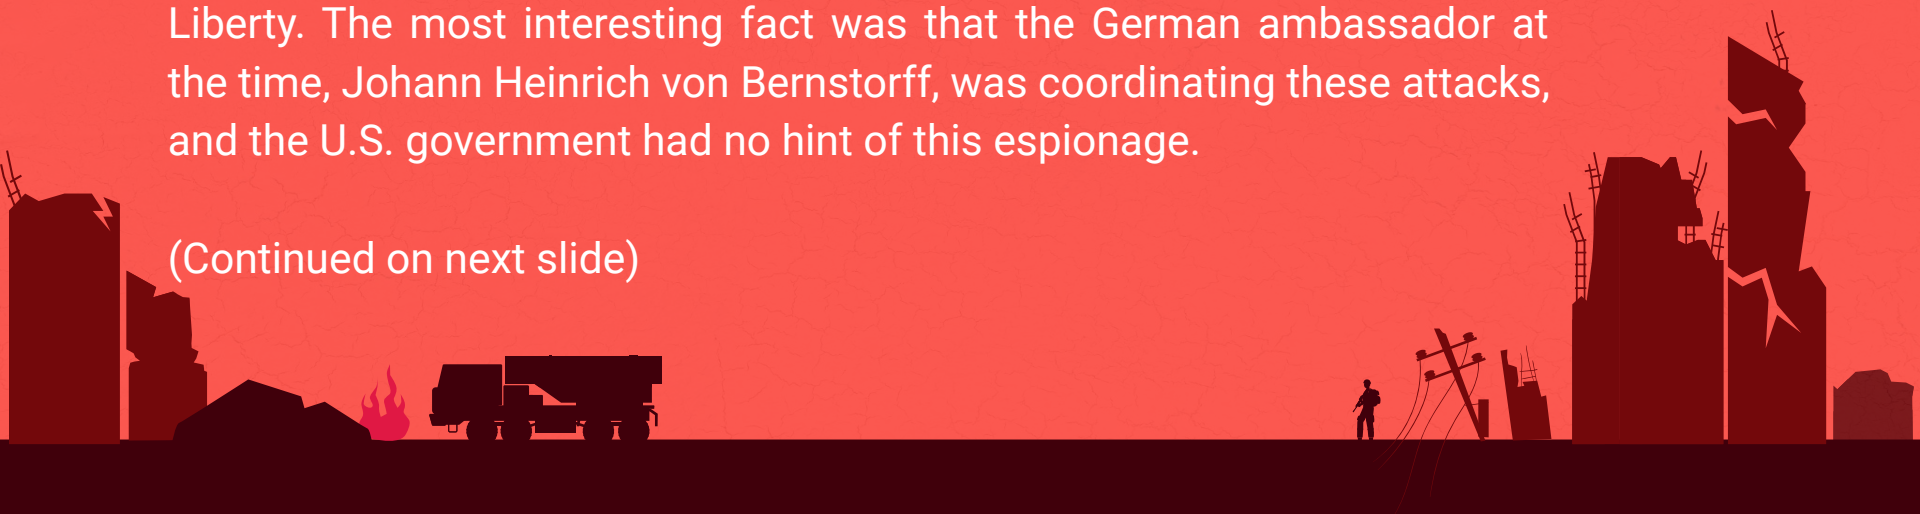

Fukushima, mismanagement of its fail-safes and not just due to tsunami.

QUESTION-4

The Black Tom explosion was an act of sabotage by German agents to destroy U.S.-made munitions that were to be supplied to the __ in X. The explosions, which occurred on July 30, 1916, in New York Harbor, destroyed some $20,000,000 worth of military goods. This incident, which happened prior to U.S. entry into X, also damaged the Statue of Liberty. The most interesting fact was that the German ambassador at the time, Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, was coordinating these attacks, and the U.S. government had no hint of this espionage.

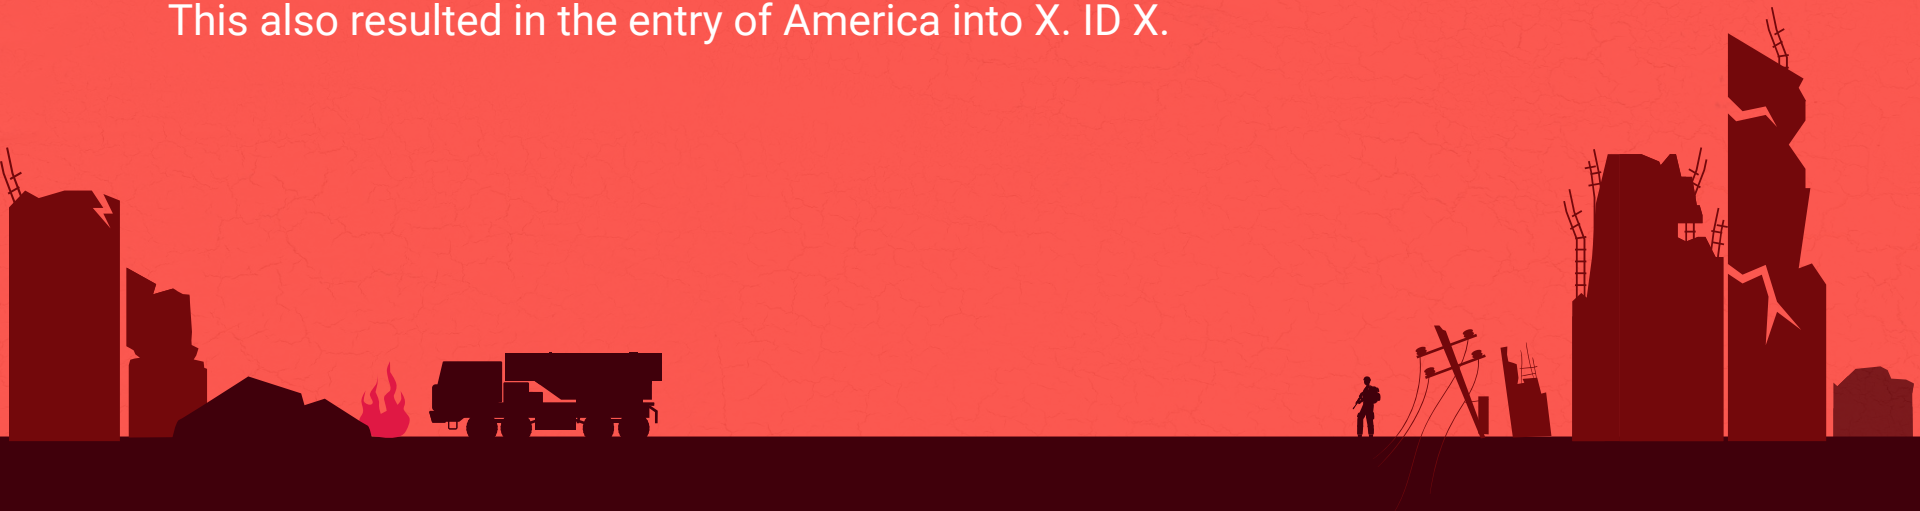

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

This led to the formation of something in the U.S. that is of utmost importance for their national security, and if it had been established earlier, it could have prevented this blast.
What was formed?

This also resulted in the entry of America into X. ID X.

ANSWER

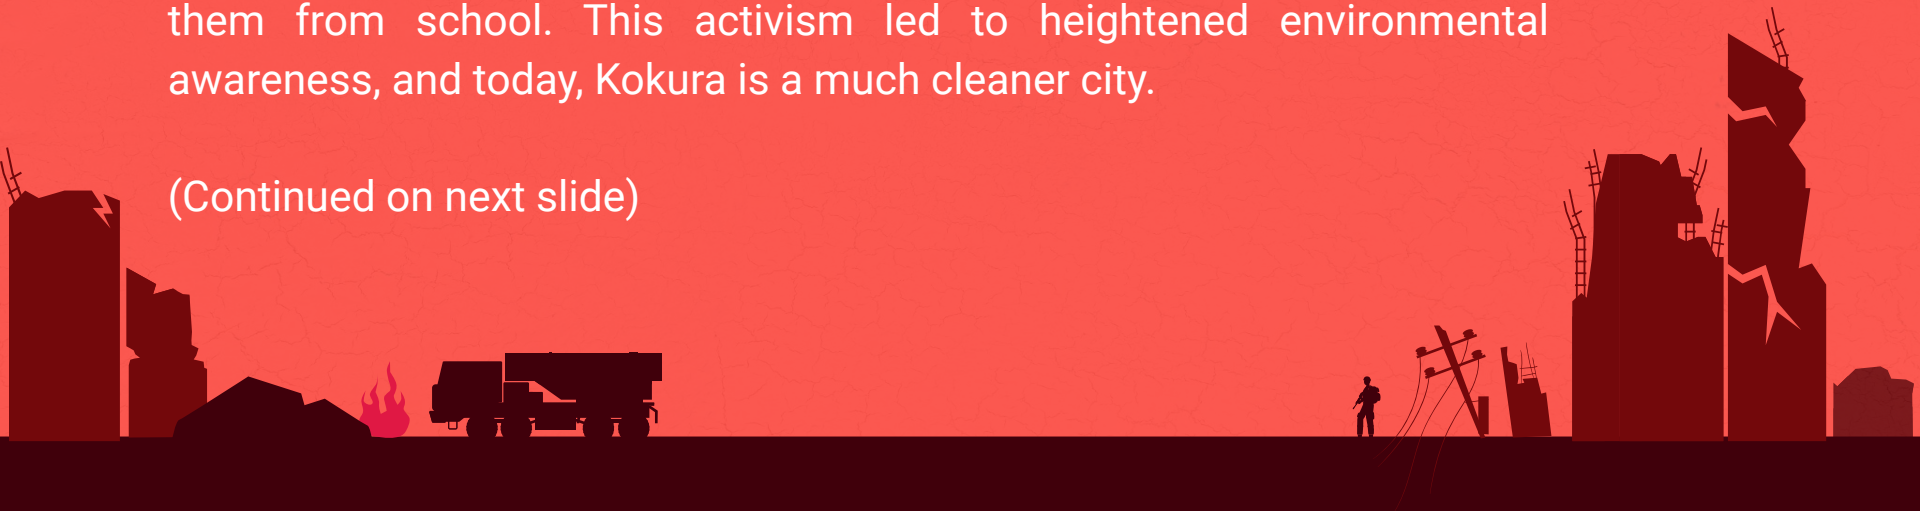

Bureau of Investigation (predecessor of FBI) and other domestic secret service agencies.
X- WWII

QUESTION-5

The citizens of Kokura took pride in their city's high levels of pollution, viewing it as a sign of development and post-war prosperity. Throughout the 1960s and 70s, the pollution was very severe. The "rainbow smoke" became a symbol of this industrial success until mothers began protesting and documenting their children's frequent illnesses that kept them from school. This activism led to heightened environmental awareness, and today, Kokura is a much cleaner city.

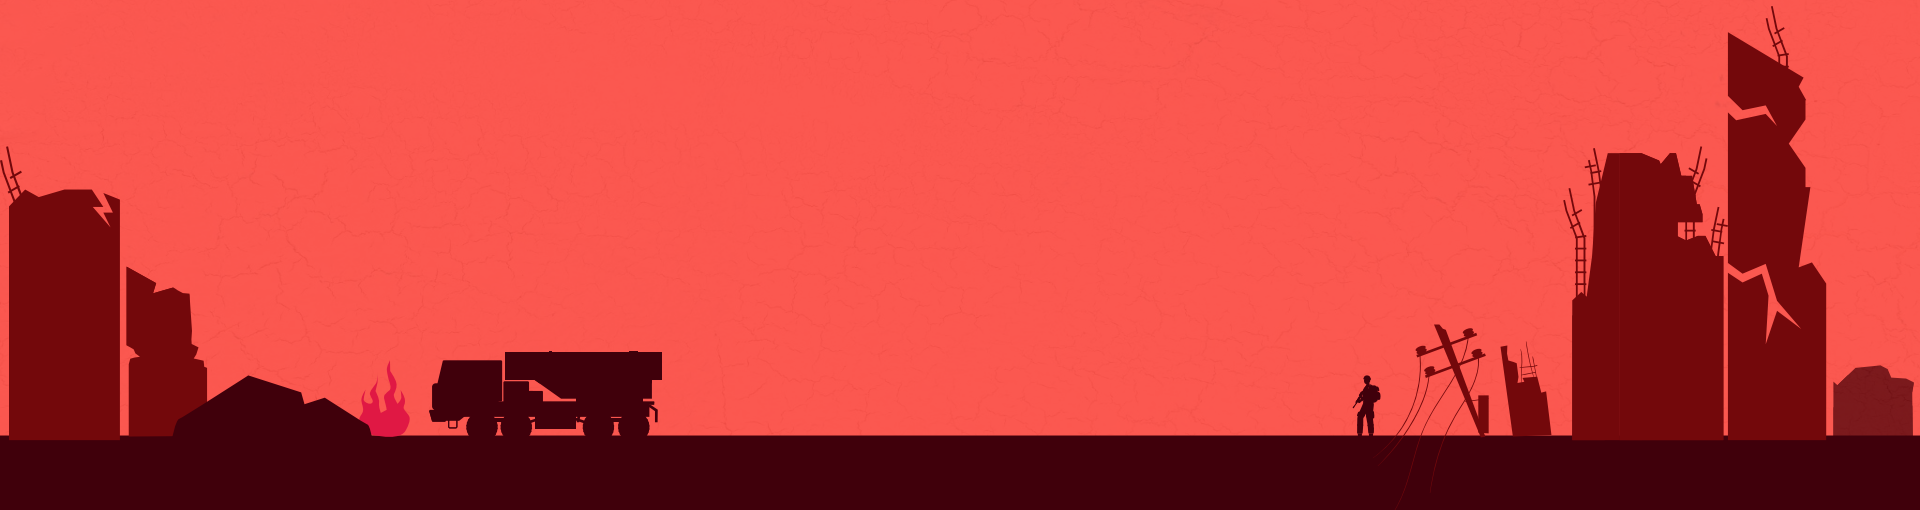

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The reason why the citizens were proud of the smoky city was also a source of guilt, which was alleviated when a neighboring city gifted them a memorial.

ID the reason.

ANSWER

Kokura was the original target of the bomb that hit Nagasaki.

QUESTION-6

The _ _ _ _ _ _ (6) X of London occured in the early 1950s, caused by many homes using low-quality coal for heating. Due to cold weather, anticyclones, and windless conditions, the incident resulted in over 10,000 deaths and more than 100,000 injuries.

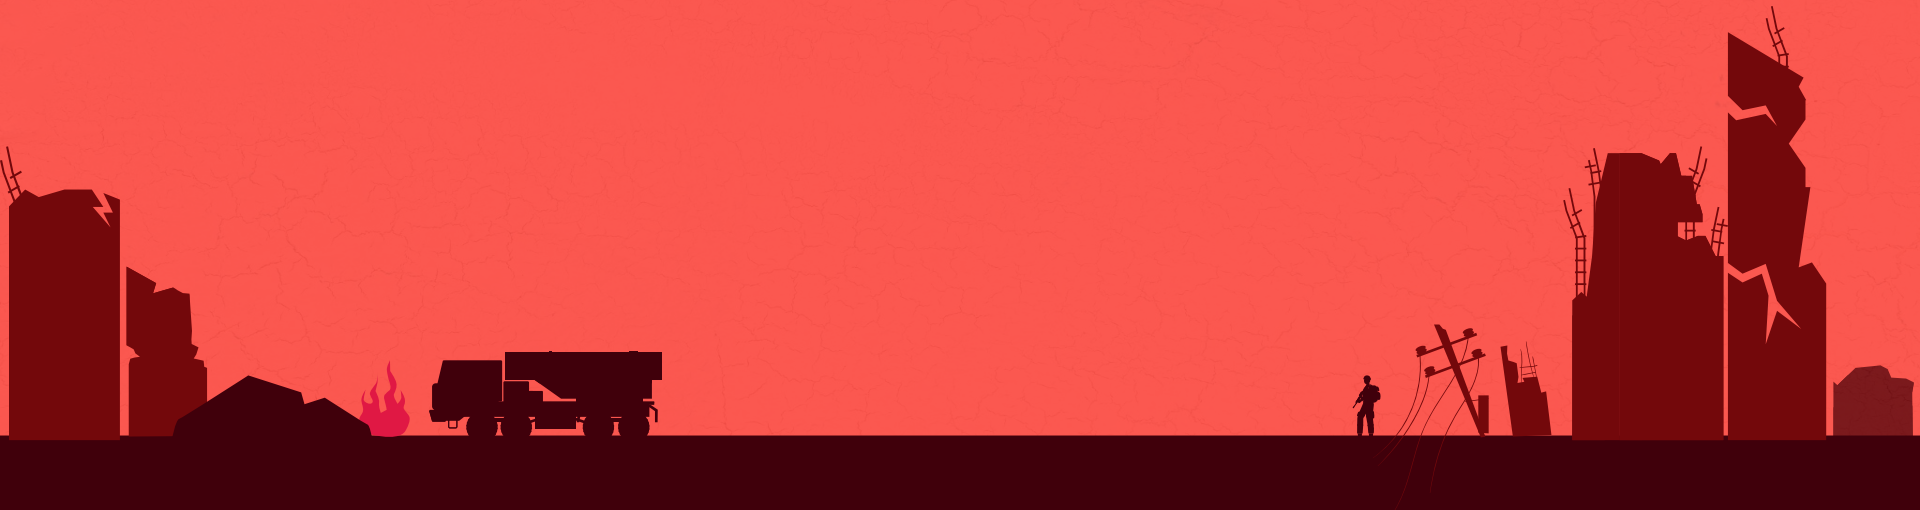

In addition to health impacts, the X severely reduced visibility to just a few meters, halting public transport and ambulance services, which left residents to transport themselves to hospitals in critical condition.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

In the following weeks, over 4,000 more people died. Although initially attributed to an influenza epidemic, later evidence indicated that most of these deaths were due to the X.

Identify the incident.

ANSWER

The Great Smog

QUESTION-7

The Boston Marathon bombing, a work of two brothers who planted two homemade pressure cooker bombs, was a result of XY. The brothers learned to build explosive devices from the online magazine of al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP), called Inspire.

Inspire promoted "XY", which shifted away from al-Qaeda's traditional terrorist attacks to simple attacks by individuals using common items for weapons.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

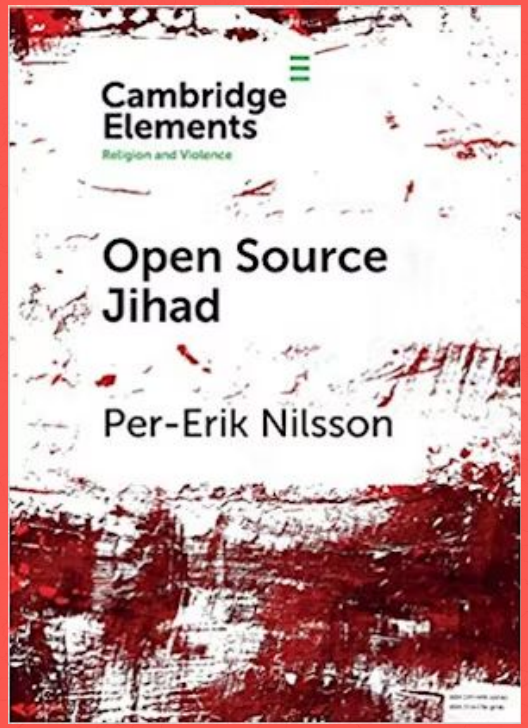

It got its name from X, which is any program whose source code is made available for use or modification as users or other developers see fit, as Inspire contained articles from all around the world, and anyone could contribute to it.

Y translates to a “Holy War” undertaken as a sacred duty by a Muslim. Since Sept. 11, 2001, it has also become synonymous with terrorism.

ID XY.

ANSWER

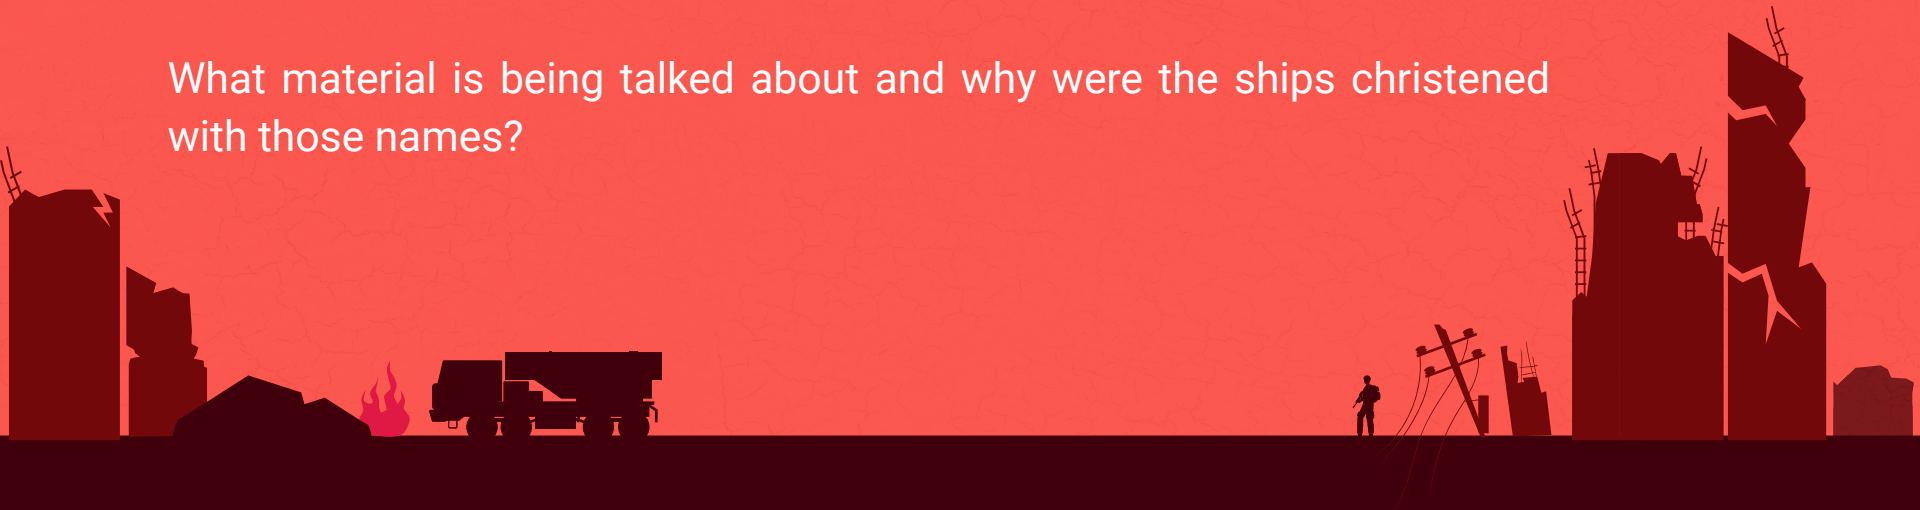

X - Open-source
Y - Jihad

QUESTION-8

USS New York and its sisters Arlington and Somerset, aptly christened were announced in September 2004 by the authorities symbolizing the American resilience. The federal authorities used a certain kind of material to build these ships. This was praised by the people that something new and strong can be built from the rubble.

What material is being talked about and why were the ships christened with those names?

ANSWER

Ships were named after the places the planes hit and they were made using the steel (7.5 tons) from Ground zero.

QUESTION-9

It took 73 years for the _____ to be found at its location, and some speculate that one of the reasons it took decades to find was because survivors weren't believed when they provided details of what they saw. A reason why they weren't believed was reportedly due to the fact that the majority of them were women and children who were under a lot of stress and not fully in command of their faculties.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

Another reason was that the employees and the second officer of _____ deemed the claims to be 'utterly untrue.'

A historian also notes that up until this incident, although there were similar incidents on a small scale, they did not occur in the way the survivors claimed.

What did the survivors claim that was only proved right after _____ was found, as we now know?

ANSWER

They claimed split into two before sinking.

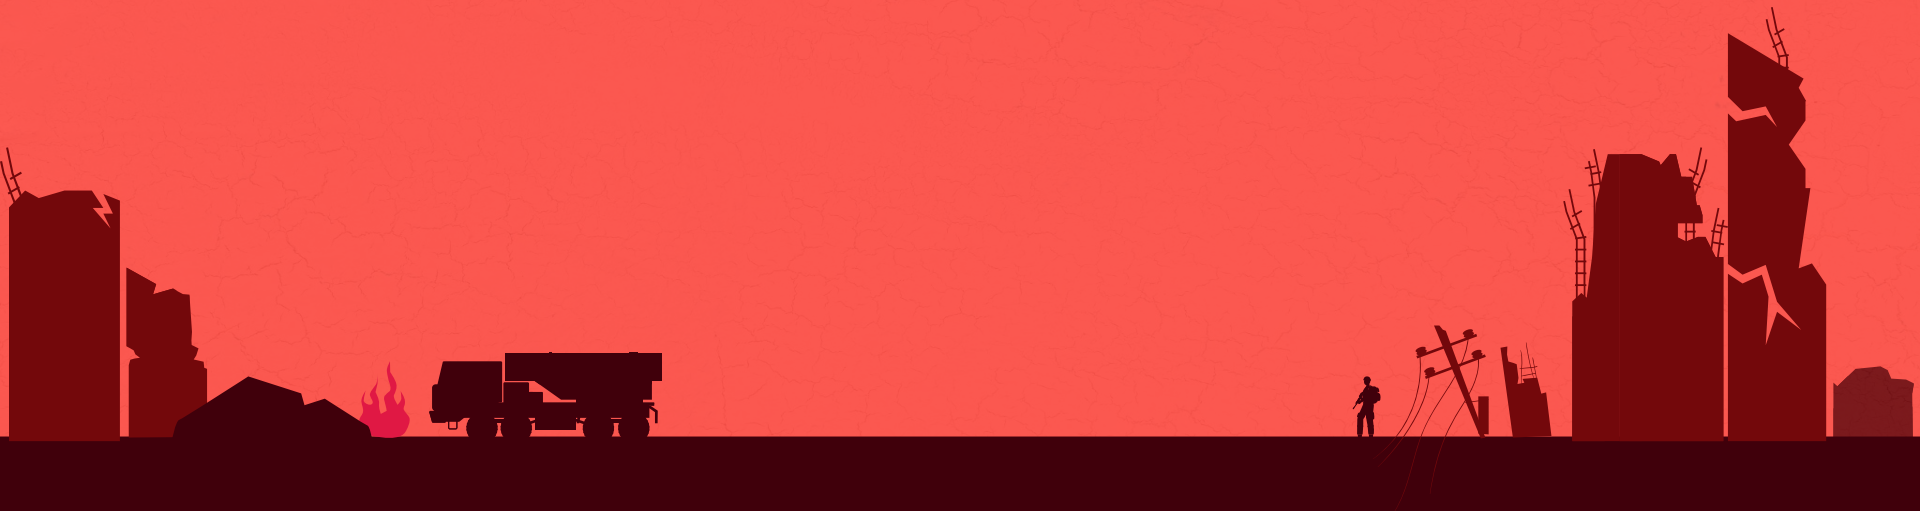

QUESTION-10

The "German Corpse Factory," also sometimes called the "German Corpse-Rendering Works" or "Tallow Factory," was one of the most notorious anti-German atrocity propaganda stories circulated during World War I. In the postwar years, investigations in Britain and France revealed that these stories were false. According to the story, the factory was a special installation supposedly operated by the Germans, in which, because certain materials were scarce in Germany due to the Allied blockade, German battlefield corpses were rendered down for materials used to manufacture nitroglycerine, candles, lubricants, and even shoe polish.

What was the rumor spread by the Anglo-French alliance?

ANSWER

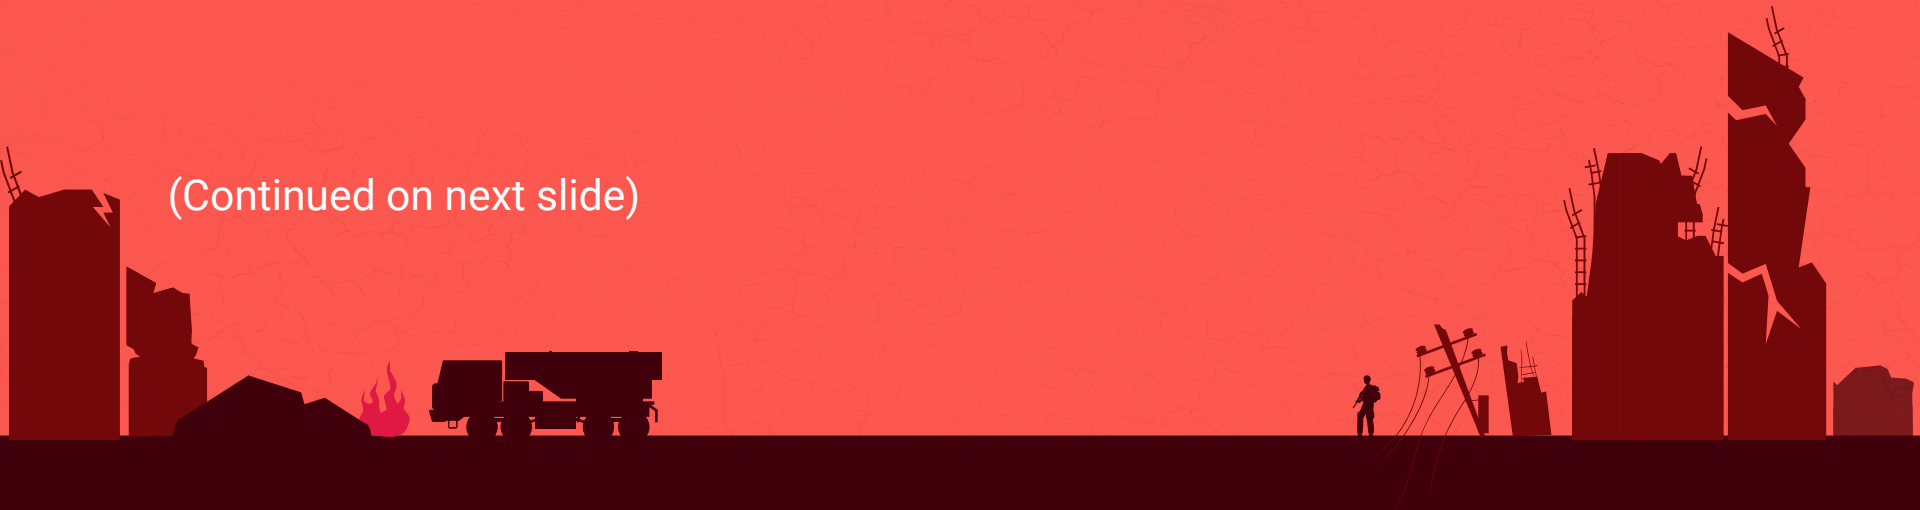

The rumour was that the German authorities were boiling down corpses from the battlefield for fats.

QUESTION-11

Studio Ghibli's Grave of the Fireflies, a Japanese film, follows the story of two siblings in Japan as they struggle to survive during the last few months of World War II, when their home city of Kobe is destroyed. A haunting hidden object was found in the poster decades after the film was first released in theaters.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The fans found something hiding in the poster that can be seen by turning up the brightness of the poster. Along with this hidden object, another fan also altered the color on the image even further and discovered that some of the lights are _____.

What did the fan find out after altering colour?

(Image follows)

歳で、
ようと思った。

ANSWER

They found that along with fireflies, a few lights were bullets or bombs from B-29 bomber (hidden object).

QUESTION-12

The next slide contains an excerpt from the poem Annus Mirabilis by John Dryden.

Identify the context/event the poem is describing.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The ghosts of traitors from the bridge descend,
With bold fanatic spectres to rejoice:
About the __ (4) into a dance they bend,
And sing their sabbath notes with feeble voice.
Our guardian angel saw them where they sate
Above the palace of our slumbering king:
He sigh'd, abandoning his charge to fate,
And, drooping, oft look'd back upon the wing.
At length the crackling noise and dreadful blaze
Call'd up some waking lover to the sight;
And long it was ere he the rest could raise,
Whose heavy eyelids yet were full of night.

ANSWER

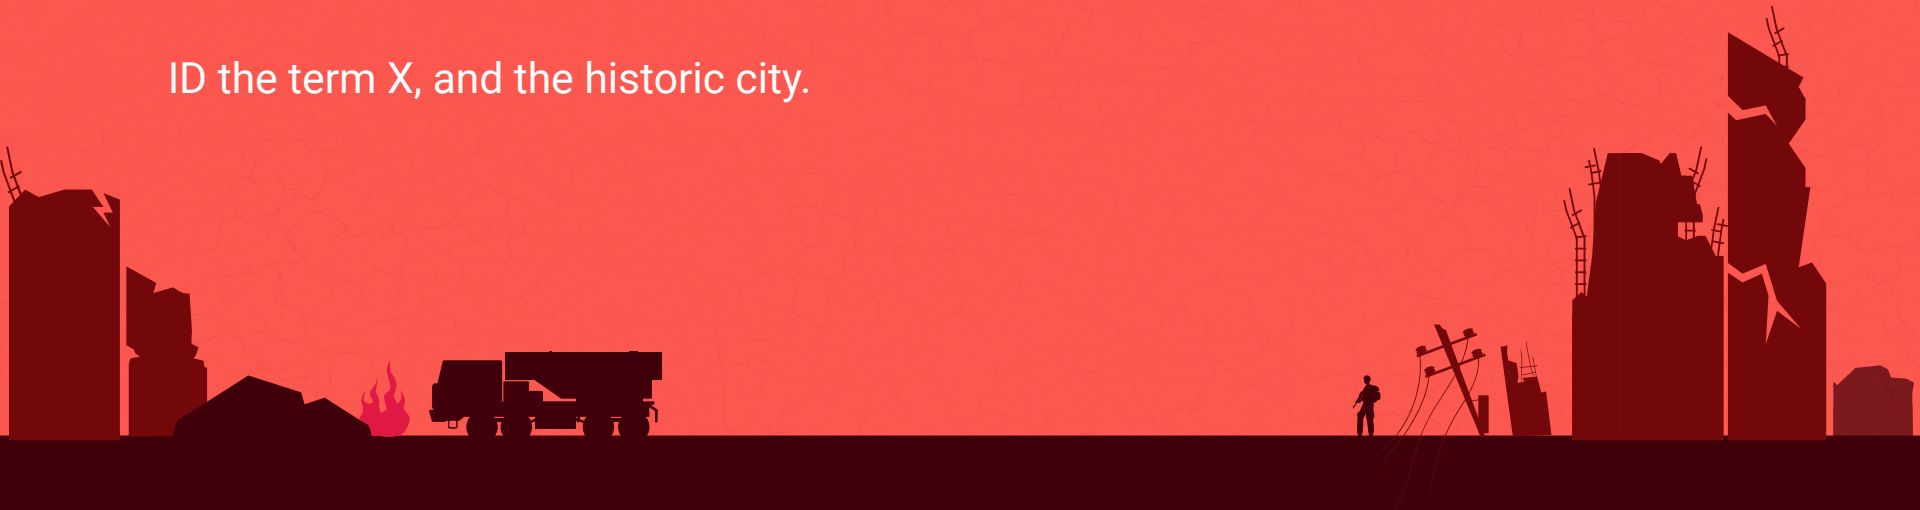

The Great Fire of London

QUESTION-13

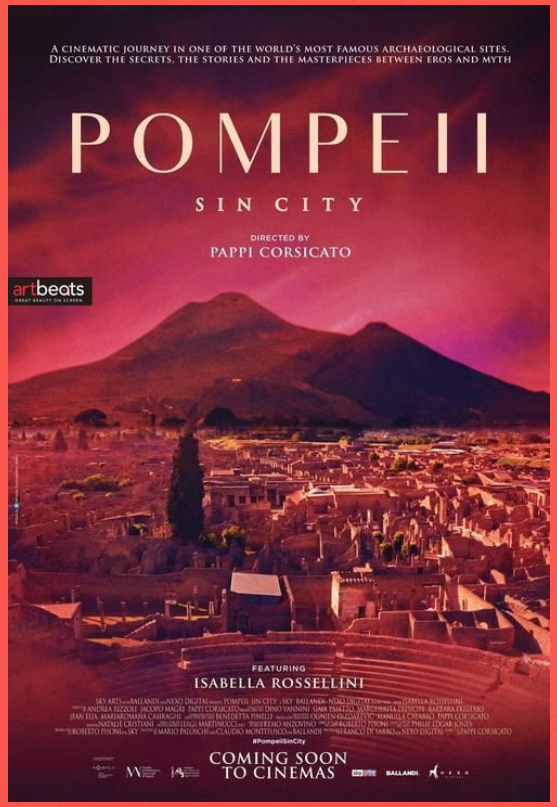

This historical city was also known as X, because of its wild practices & its explicit erotic artifacts. Including frescoes and graffiti, leading some to speculate that it was destroyed as a form of divine judgment. So, archeologists and historians were able to uncover the secrets of X because it was dramatically preserved better compared to other cities.

ID the term X, and the historic city.

ANSWER

Sin City, Pompeii

QUESTION-14

Operation Wrath of God, a covert assassination campaign was carried out by Israel to avenge _____ in September of 1972. The incident resulted in the X getting suspended for 34 hours, for the first time in modern X history. After it took place, the then Israeli PM took it on himself to avenge those involved, and specially had a wing of Mossad wipe out the entire organization that was involved in the incident in september.

ID X and this incident that was also made into a movie by the coveted director Steven Spielberg.

ANSWER

X- Olympics
Incident- 11 israeli athletes were taken hostage by Palestinian terrorist organization Black September.

QUESTION-15

The École Polytechnique Shooting, also known as the Montreal Massacre in 1989, was one of the earliest mass shootings and hate crimes specifically targeting X. The shooter entered a mechanical engineering class and ordered the X to one side of the room, instructing the 50 _ _ _ (3) in the class to leave. He shouted, "You're all __(8), and I hate ____ (8)!" before opening fire. He shot all nine X in the room, killing six of them.

(Continued on next slide)

Continuation....

The shooter then moved through the corridors, cafeteria, and another classroom, deliberately targeting X for nearly 20 minutes. In total, he killed 14 X before taking his own life.

This tragic event led to significant discussions on _ _ _ _ _ (5)-based violence and has had a lasting impact on Canadian society, prompting changes in gun control laws and increased awareness of violence against X.

ID X.

ANSWER

X - Women

ROUND-2

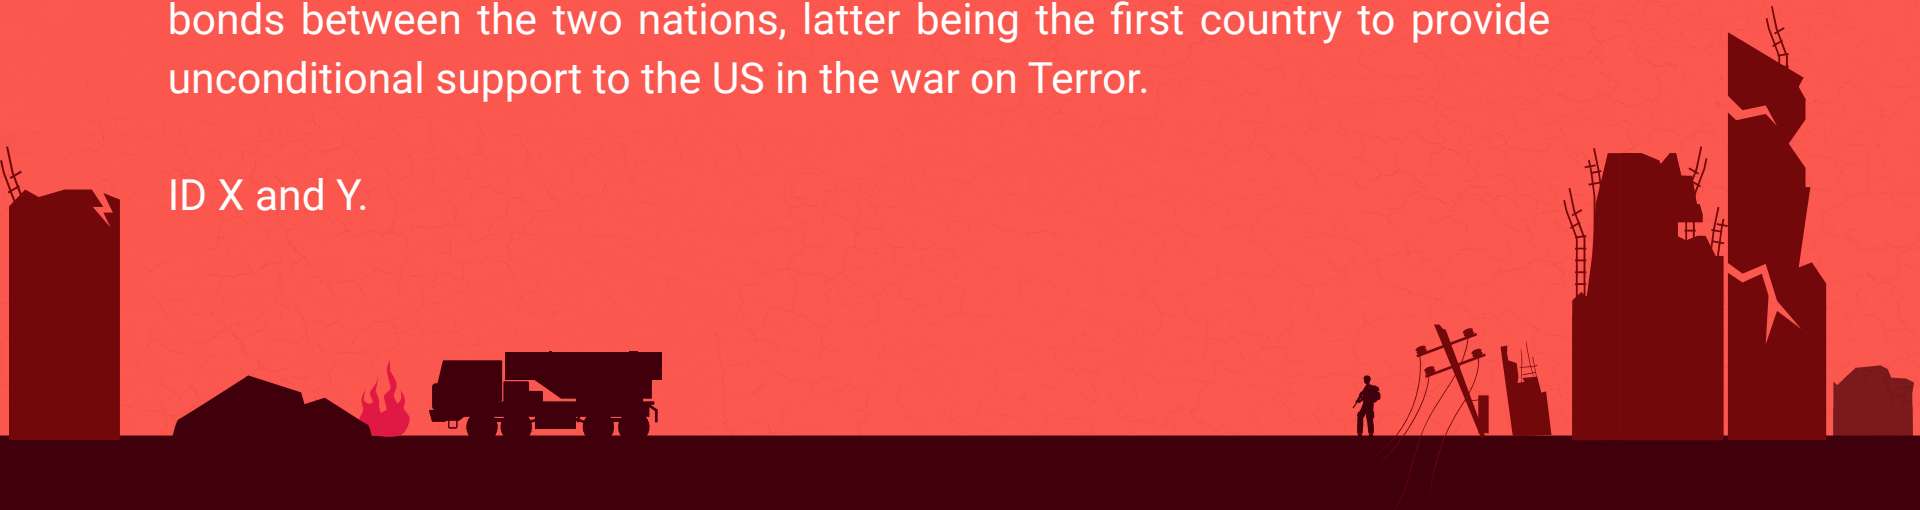

9/11

QUESTION-1

After the attack in the States, X made an unprecedented gesture of solidarity by ordering the playing of Y at their stately home. Though seeming highly unusual and peculiar, the people accepted this symbolic act with empathy and unity. This incident seemed to have broken the long tradition, but demonstrated the support of the mighty figure, cementing bonds between the two nations, latter being the first country to provide unconditional support to the US in the war on Terror.

ID X and Y.

ANSWER

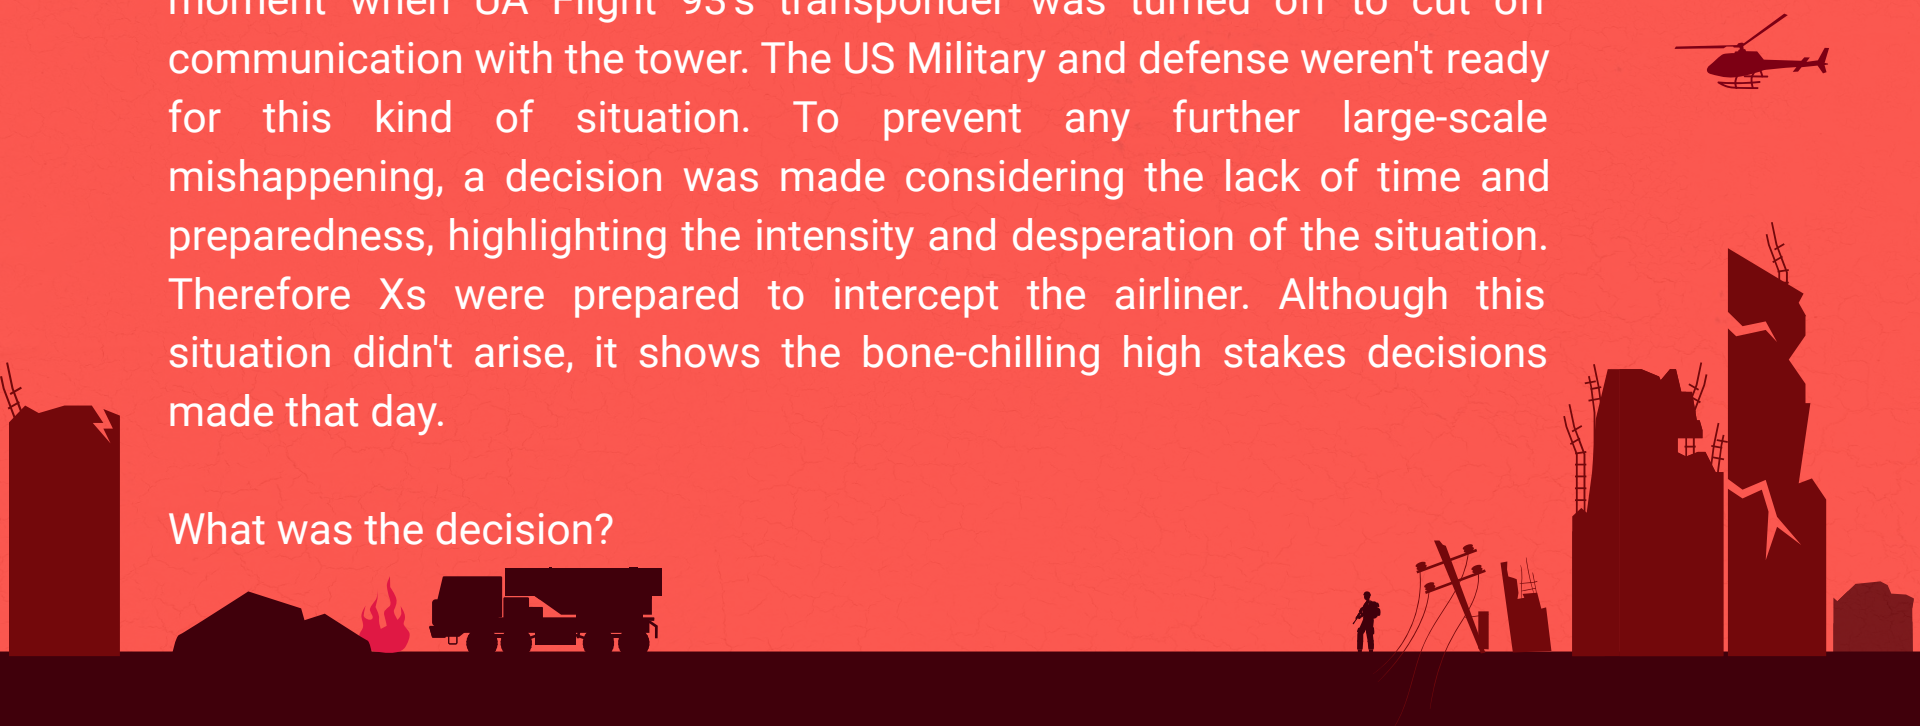

X- Queen Elizabeth II
Y- US National Anthem

QUESTION-2

In the chaos and confusion of the 9/11 attacks, there was a dramatic moment when UA Flight 93's transponder was turned off to cut off communication with the tower. The US Military and defense weren't ready for this kind of situation. To prevent any further large-scale mishappening, a decision was made considering the lack of time and preparedness, highlighting the intensity and desperation of the situation. Therefore Xs were prepared to intercept the airliner. Although this situation didn't arise, it shows the bone-chilling high stakes decisions made that day.

What was the decision?

ANSWER

Pilots were instructed to ram the F16 into the airliner

QUESTION-3

The Survivor Tree was found buried at Ground Zero after the collapse of the twin towers. At the time, the tree was severely damaged, with snapped roots, charred bark, and broken branches. It was believed to be beyond saving. The tree was rescued and rehabilitated and replanted as a part of the memorial site. Now, it has become a living symbol of resilience and healing, showing that life can flourish even after devastating loss. To commemorate and remind people about this tiny yet powerful message of hope and resilience, 9/11 Memorial Museum came up with a program.

What was the program about?

ANSWER

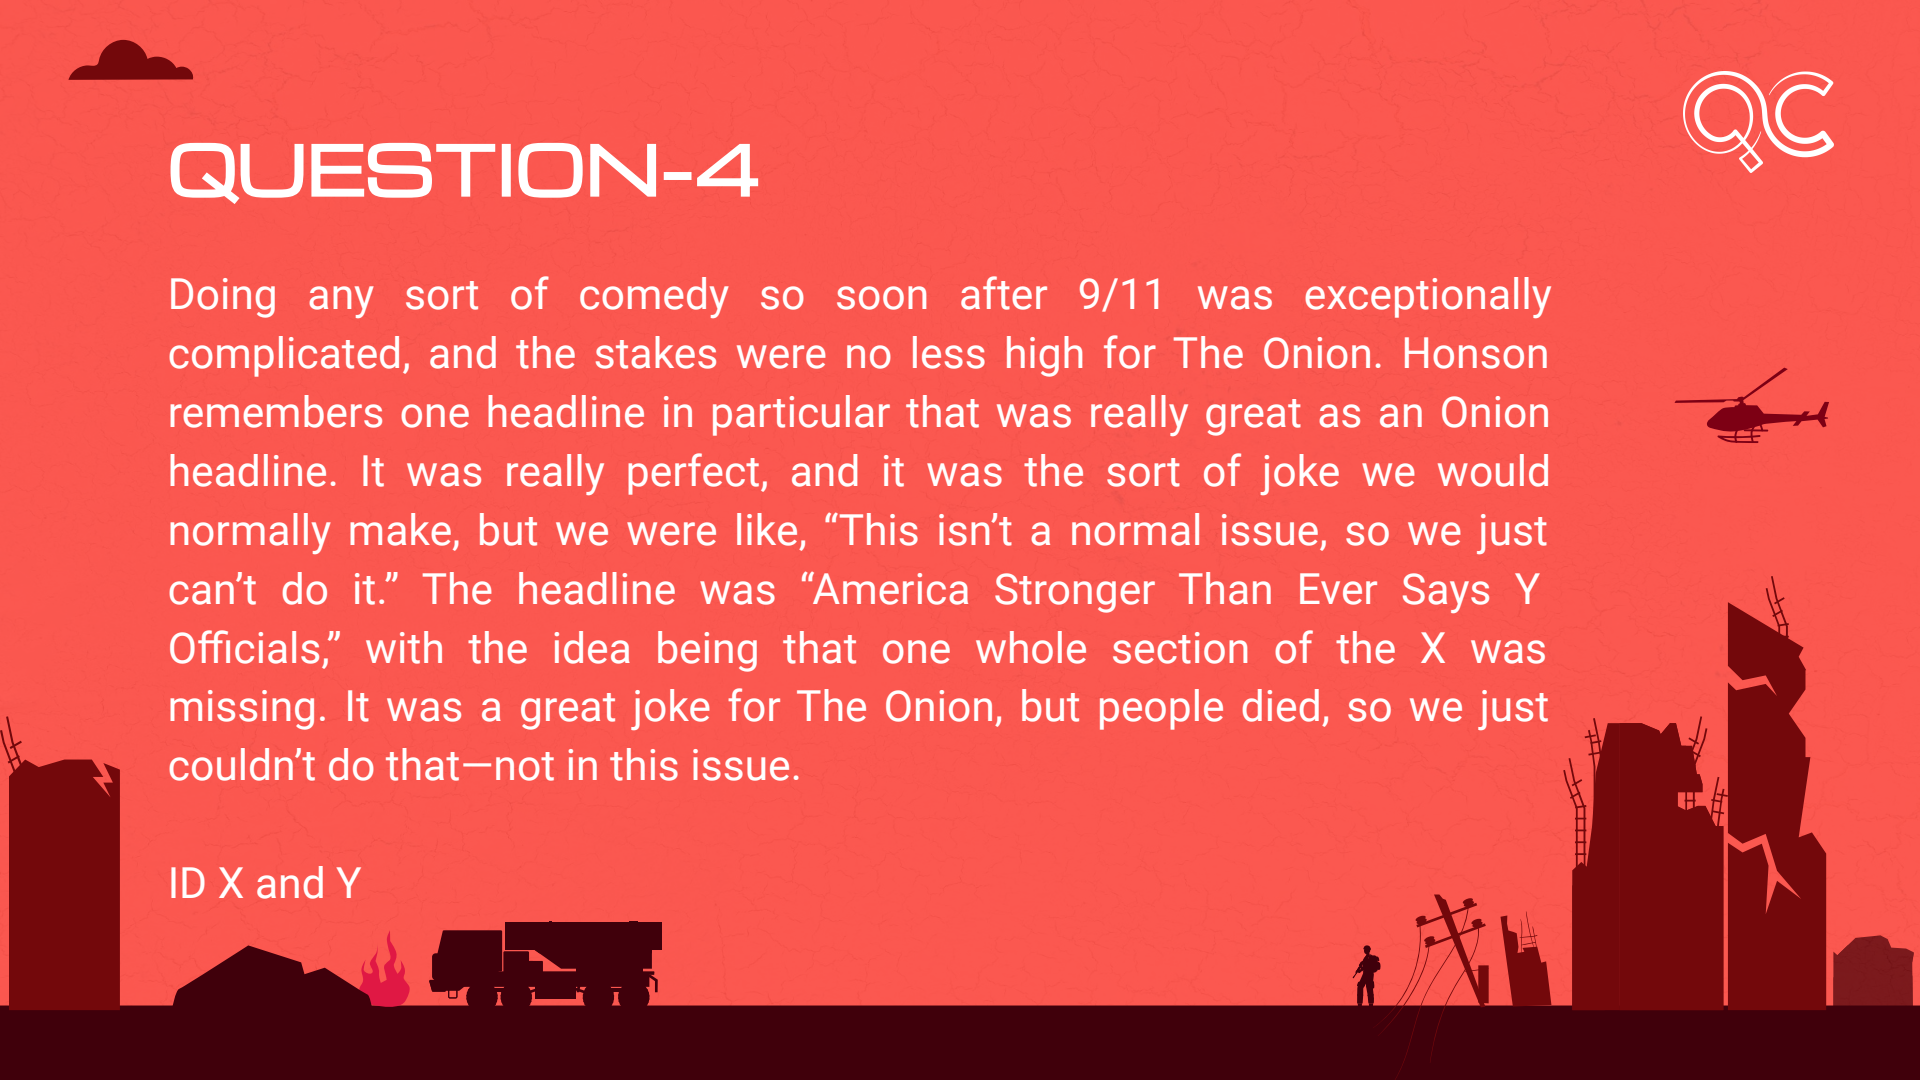

They gave seeds to the community who were affected by such large scale tragedies.

QUESTION-4

Doing any sort of comedy so soon after 9/11 was exceptionally complicated, and the stakes were no less high for The Onion. Honson remembers one headline in particular that was really great as an Onion headline. It was really perfect, and it was the sort of joke we would normally make, but we were like, “This isn’t a normal issue, so we just can’t do it.” The headline was “America Stronger Than Ever Says Y Officials,” with the idea being that one whole section of the X was missing. It was a great joke for The Onion, but people died, so we just couldn’t do that—not in this issue.

ID X and Y

ANSWER

X - Pentagon
Y - Quadragon

QUESTION-5

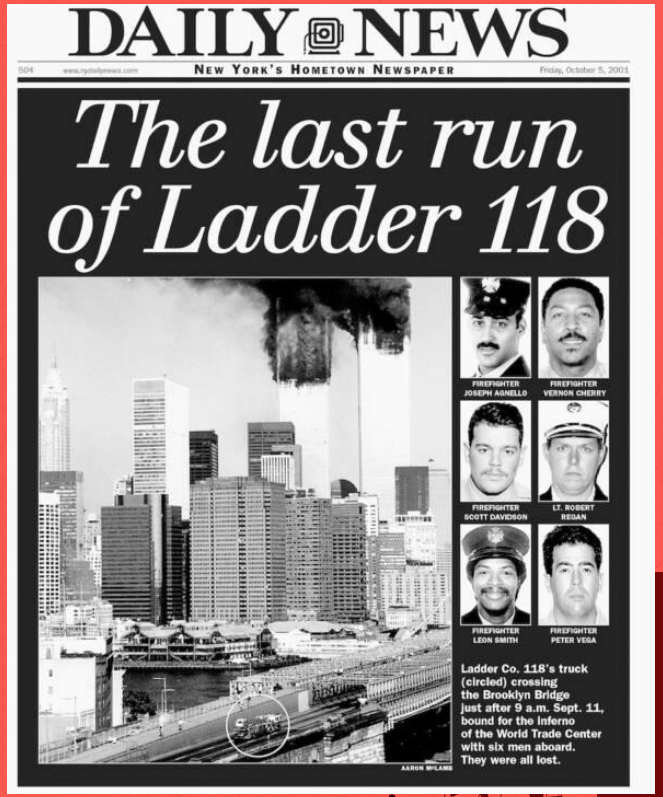

On September 11, 2001, Aaron McLamb had just arrived at his workplace near the Brooklyn Bridge when the first plane hit the North Tower. Eighteen minutes later, from his 10th-floor window, he watched in shock as the second plane struck the South Tower. Grabbing his camera, the 20-year-old captured a haunting moment in history. “It felt surreal, watching from above,” he told the Daily News. “We couldn’t hear the fire or the collapsing buildings—just the sirens of fire trucks racing across the bridge."

ID what was so special about the photo he took.
(image follows)

ANSWER

The Ladder 118 fire truck is seen speeding to to its death as none of the 6 firefighters survived.

FOLLOW US

instagram.com/qcnitw
facebook.com/qcnitw
youtube.com/c/QuizClubNITW

Check out more of our quizzes slideshare.com/QuizClubNITW

