Question 1

In Star Wars , few spaceships are named after their appearances such as X-Wings and _ _ _ (3) ____. _ _ _ (3) ____ derives its name from its use of twin-ion engines. In reality, the ion engine is a real-life type of spacecraft propulsion, and publicity surrounding the launch of the SMART-1 spacecraft, particularly the shuttle Smart-1, likened its ion thruster to the propulsion systems of a Y. However George Lucas called it _ _ _ (3) ____ as they look like Y.

Identify Y (6).

Question 1

Answer

Y- Bow tie

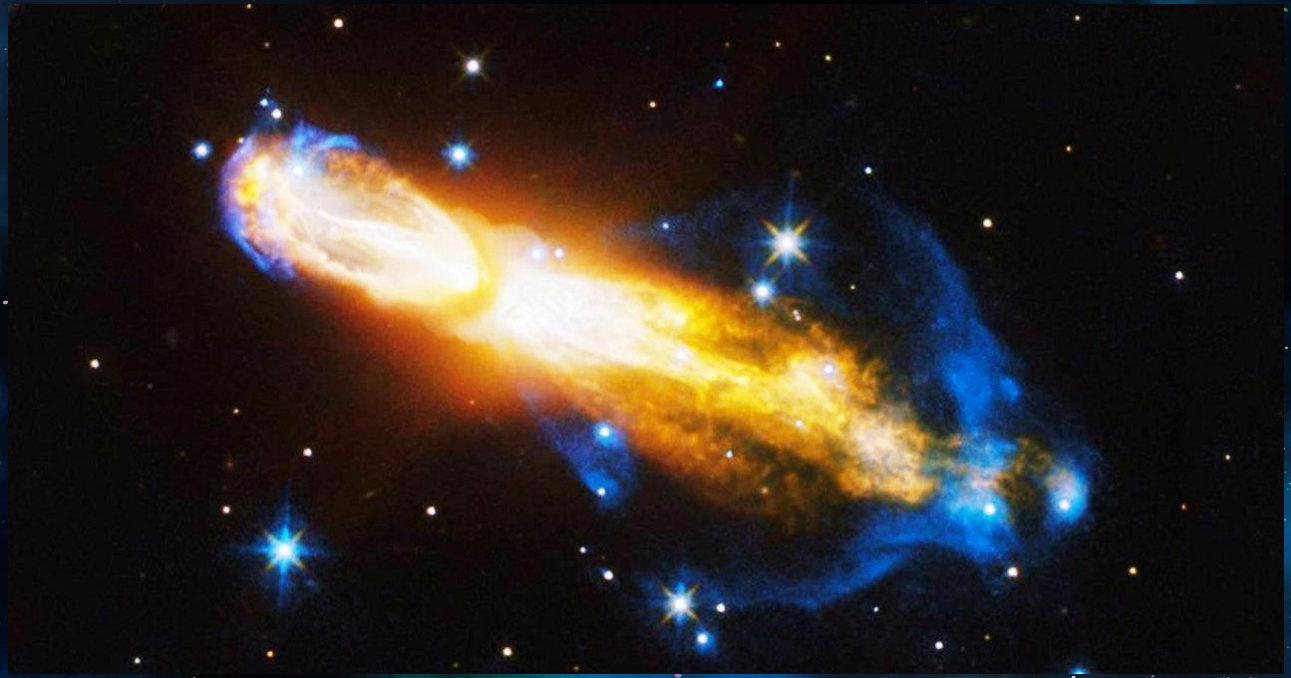

Question 2

Technically named OH 231.84+4.22, the Calabash Nebula is a protoplanetary nebula in the Puppis constellation that is 1.4 light years long and roughly 5000 light years from Earth. The nebula is a breathtaking view of the death of QX Puppis, a low-mass star like our sun, ejecting its materials in opposite directions at immense speeds and blowing out the top layers of its gases. Interestingly, the Calabash nebula has been dubbed the _____(6,3) nebula, as it has been found to contain massive quantities of an element X, which, when reacted with other elements, produces such a strong odour.

ID X and FITB.

Question 2

Answer

X- Sulphur, blank- Rotten Egg

Question 3

It is suggested that X is a response to Isaac Asimov's The Foundation, exploring the same theme of the decline of a galactic empire but with different assumptions and conclusions. While The Foundation emphasizes the power of individuals and psychohistory, X highlights the consequences of environmental degradation and the abuse of power. It is argued that X's twist is that the hero is the individual with psychic powers, but in Foundation the Mule who has the ability to control others is the antagonist.

Identify X.

Answer

X- Dune

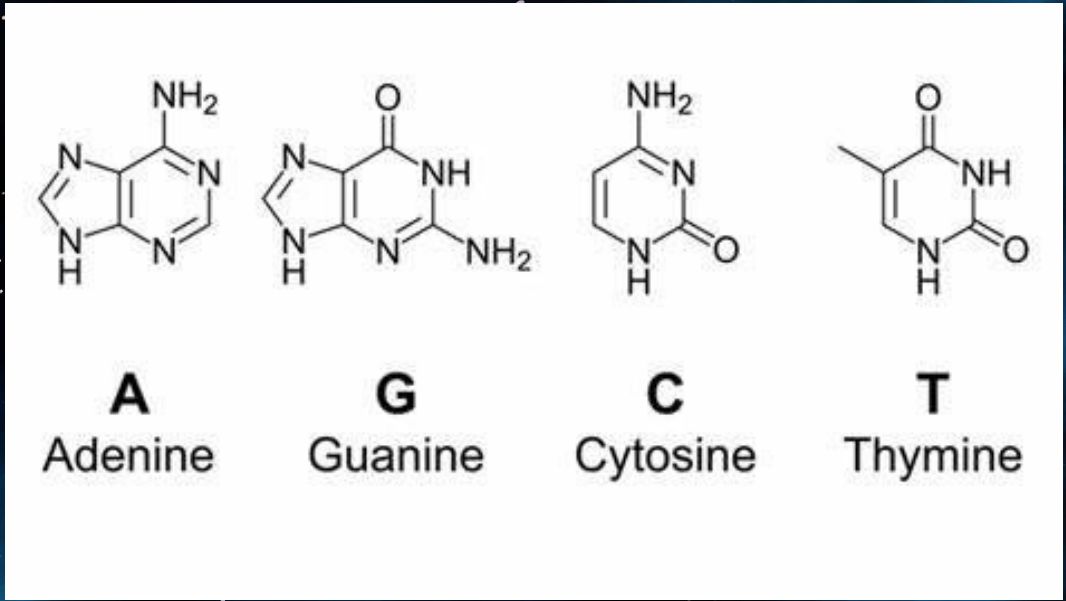

Question 4

Gattaca is a 1997 film about enhancements in human genetics through gene editing, resulting in "designer babies" and the prejudice natural-born people experience. NASA has called it the most scientifically accurate movie ever made. The film's title isn't mentioned in any way during the film, so many viewers were left wondering why "Gattaca" was chosen as the title.The title was chosen for a specific reason, and it has everything to do with scientific accuracy.

Identify the reason.

Answer

It is named after the 4 nucleobases in DNA: guanine (G), adenine (A), thymine (T), and cytosine (C).

Question 5

Developed in less than one year, the X was unveiled on October 23, 2001, for $399. The name came from a freelance copywriter who, after seeing the prototype, thought of the movie 2001: A Space Odyssey.

The name comes from the given scene (Will be shared).

Identify X.

Answer

X- Ipod

Question 6

In the X universe, many spaceships are called Y due to the in universe reason being because of a line of ships with that name starting with one of the first manned missions, but ironically due to this reason the first real space shuttle was also named Y, due to fans of X petitioning the then President.

What is Y?

Answer

Enterprise

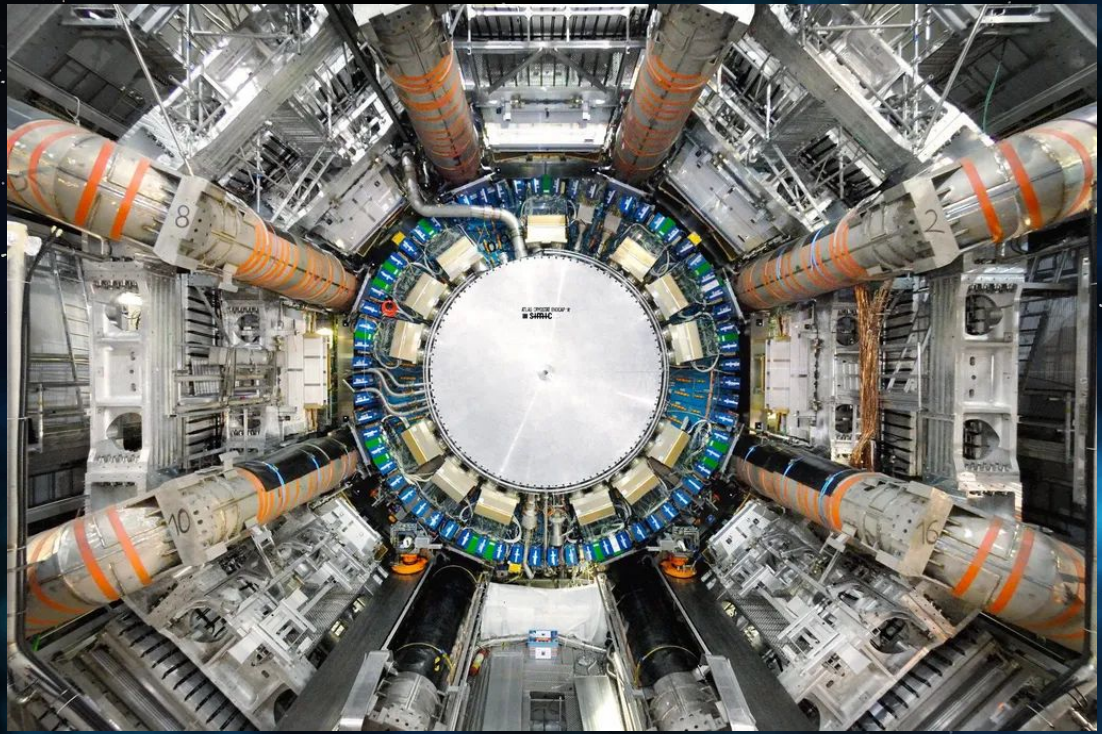

Question 7

Steins;Gate is an anime that follows Rintaro Okabe, who learns that the device he is developing can send text messages back in time. The time-travel theory used here is the black hole theory. Y learns of the device and sends people to retrieve it. The idea of making Y an antagonist might be inspired by the conspiracy theories surrounding the real-life X, such as its ability to achieve time-travel via black holes through high-velocity interactions.

Identify X.

Answer

X- CERN

Question 8

An episode of The Late Show with Stephen Colbert early this year had X as the guest, an eminent personality of modern times who is also popular for his criticism of movies of a specific genre. On being asked about his views on a film released this year, he expressed disagreement with some of the film's aspects. Among them was the film's portrayal of the motor skills of certain creatures, adding that in reality, such organisms propel forward in a different fashion, in contrast to their smooth movement as depicted in the film.

ID X and the creature.

Answer

X- Neil deGrasse Tyson

Sandworms (From Dune: Part Two)

Question 9

The first company founded to capitalize on the emergence of the World Wide Web during the 1990s was Mosaic Communications Corporation, subsequently branded as X. Within just four months of releasing its web browser of the same name, it had acquired a staggering seventy-five percent of the browser market along with a strong presence in the computer services domain. In fact, Brendan Eich, an early employee of the company, is credited with having invented Y, the popular language used for scripting web pages.

Question 9

But X's dominance was short-lived after its market share price fell more than 90% during the first browser war (mid 1990s), forcing it to discontinue operations in 2008. Nevertheless, the browser name is often sighted at various computer centres— a legacy etched in the minds of the early browsing era.

Identify X & Y.

Answer

X- Netscape, Y- Javascript

Question 10

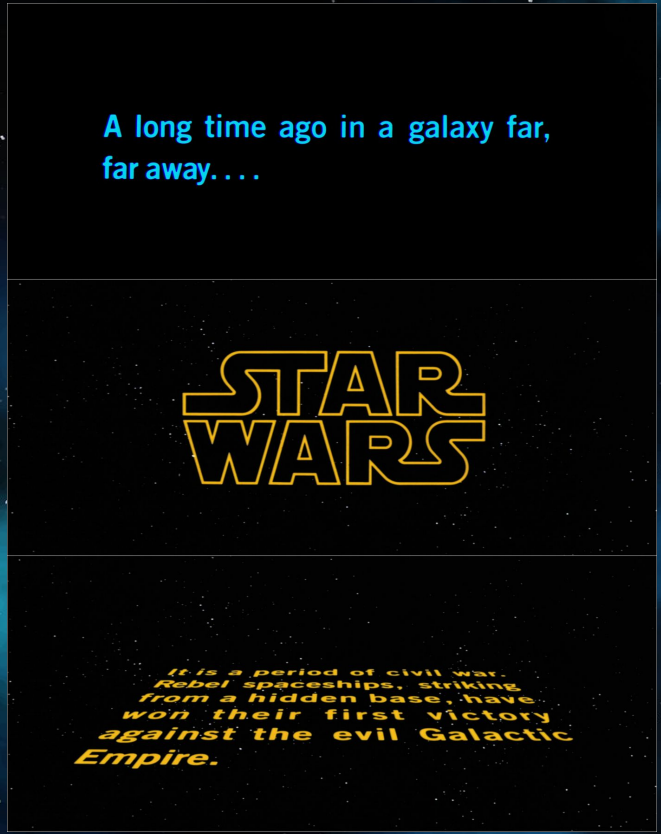

This iconic feature of this set of films was added by the director as he envisioned the story being told by a group of powerful beings in the future, although eventually this idea of powerful beings was scrapped, this feature remains and is characteristic of the films.

Due to this feature, the director got into trouble with the Hollywood's Directors Guild for violating rules regarding credits.

Identify what are we talking about.

Answer

Star Wars opening crawl

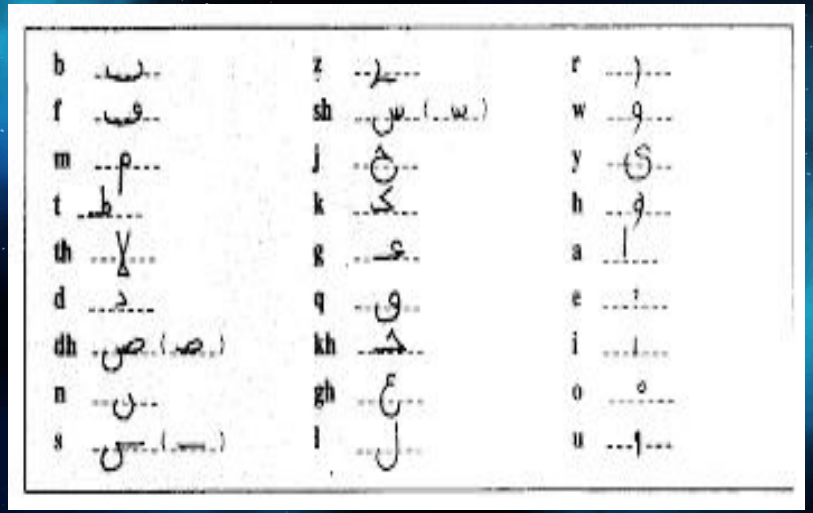

Question 11

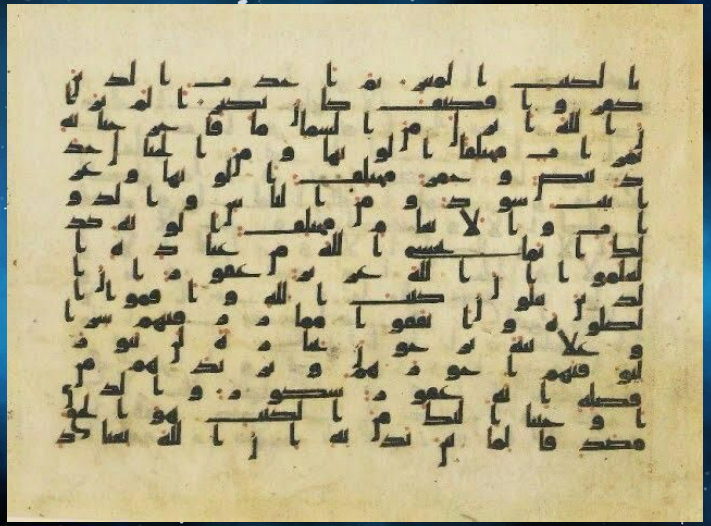

The Arabic language uses ____ (4, plural) and _____ (6, plural) in their script. However it wasn't always the case, the natives in Arabia didn't need the ____ (4, plural) and _____ (6, plural) , they were later added to avoid ambiguity for non-natives while reading the Quran. In the Dune series , which is set in the future, the Fremen language is heavily influenced by Arabic. However there is a very distinct feature in the Fremen language.

Identify the feature (blanks).

Answer

The Fremen language also doesn't use dots and dashes like the original Arabic.

Question 12

Although considered a commercial failure during its theatrical release in the late 1990s, the film X was praised by critics for its animation and universally appealing theme. The titular metallic character, who utters only a total of 53 words in the entire film, was voiced by Y in the English version, who is known for delivering silent and yet powerful dialogues while retaining a soft emotional tone. Currently, Y is popular for lending a similar voice to a character Z in sixteen languages, varying the tone as per the character's age.

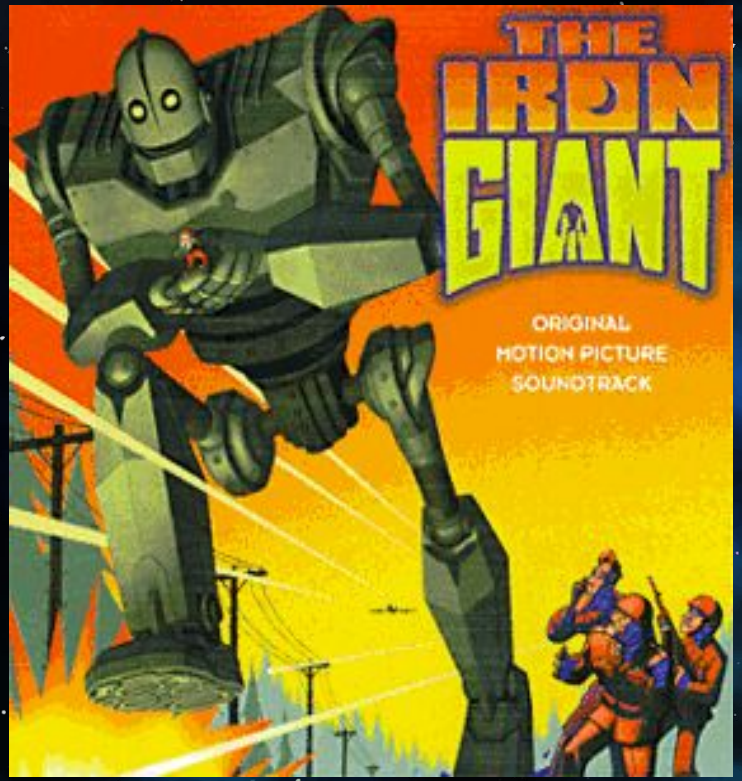

ID X (5 points), Y & Z (2.5 points each).

Answer

X- The Iron Giant

Y- Vin Diesel

Z- Groot

Question 13

In the following image, there is an example of a natural X formed by Y ore. Unlike today, where the concentration of naturally occurring Y ore is insufficient for X formation and must be artificially concentrated, 1.7 billion years ago, the concentration of natural Y ore was high enough to allow the natural formation of a X. Identify X and Y.

Answer

X- Natural Nuclear Reactor

Y- Uranium.

Question 14

X and Y first met in New York City in 1953 and exchanged friendly insults for decades. They made an informal agreement called the "X–Y Treaty." According to this agreement, Y had to claim X was the best science fiction writer, with himself as second best, while X had to claim Y was the best science writer, with himself as second best. Therefore, X dedicated his book "Report on Planet Three" with the words:

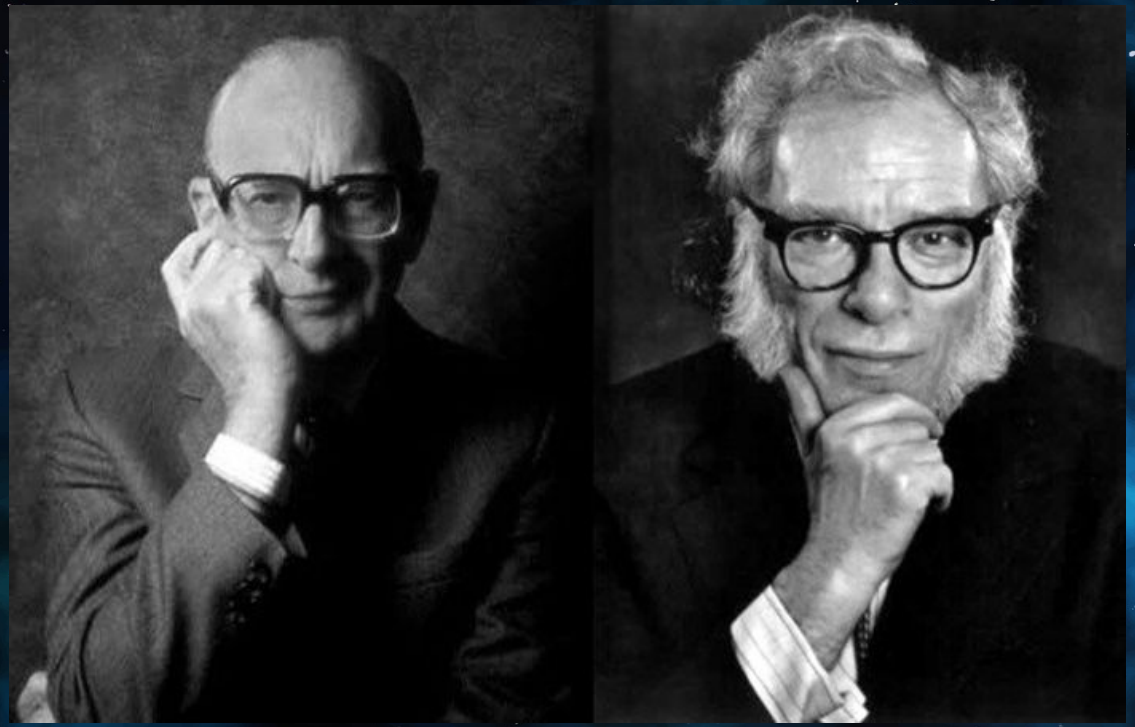

""In accordance with the terms of the X-Y treaty, the second-best science writer dedicates this book to the second-best science-fiction writer."

Identify sci-fiction authors 🐐🐐 X and Y.

Answer

X- Arthur Clarke

Y- Isaac Asimov

Question 15

Among the earliest Japanese manga series was Mighty ____(4), adapted as X in English, written and illustrated by Osamu Tezuka, "the Godfather of Manga," in a set of 23 volumes between 1952 and 1968. Several aspects of X were believed to be inspired by Disney's iconic characters, specifically the large expressive eyes, with the creator describing this character as a "21st century reverse-Pinocchio." The manga was deemed significant to motivate the children of Japan during the country's healing phase, who were greatly affected by the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Nevertheless, the futuristic landscape and the conscience to use one's power "for the right thing" inspired the global viewers to have something to aspire towards.

ID X.

Answer

X - Astro Boy

Mercury is the closest planet to the Sun and the smallest one in the entire Solar System. This planet's name has nothing to do with the liquid metal, since Mercury was named after the Roman messenger god. Despite being closer to the Sun than Venus, its temperatures aren't as terribly hot as that planet’s

Speaking of craters, many of them were named after artists or authors who made significant contributions to their respective fields. Mercury takes a little more than 58 days to complete its rotation, so try to imagine how long days must be there! Mercury’s temperatures are extreme, albeit not as extreme as on Venus
